City is set to fight county on new property tax increase

In Brief

Wellesley hosts seniors

A total of 27 Romulus senior citizens attended the sixth annual senior citizens Christmas dinner held Dec. 13 by the Wellesley Townhouse Cooperative in the community building of the complex located at 35661 Smith Rd.

This year and in previous years, the dinner was prepared by Sue Mewton, secretary of the Wellesley Board of Directors, with the assistance of several other members.

Attending the dinner in addition to board members was the Rev. John Vaprezsan of the Metro Baptist Temple in Belleville, who led the group in pre-meal prayer and who gave a brief Christmas message following the meal.

After a session of Christmas caroling, floral centerpieces were presented to the three oldest seniors present. The centerpieces were donated by Mach's Flowers and Stein's Florists, both local merchants.

Housing permits up

A total of 25 permits of all types was issued during November by the Romulus building department for construction amounting to $258,194.

A breakdown of permits issued showed 2 single-family houses, 2 buildings demolished, 17 additions and alterations and 4 garages and carports.

Aliens must register

All aliens in the United States on Jan. 1. 1981 will be required under the Immigration and Nationality Act to report their current address during January.

According to the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the U.S. Dept. of Justice, this action is required even though the alien's address has not changed since his last report. The report is made each year.

Aliens may go to any U.S. post office or any Immigration and Naturalization Office and ask for the address report card, Form I-53. When completed, the card should be mailed with a stamp on the reverse side.

Care should be taken not to fold or tear the card.

The federal law does not apply to aliens on diplomatic duty or to those who are accredited to the United Nations.

The parent or legal guardian of an alien child under 14 years of age must submit an address report for such child. Any alien who is temporarily absent from the United States on Jan. 1 must report his address within 10 days after return.

Post Christmas gift

When it comes to receiving a gift one can be elated, especially if that gift is in the form of a check that will be used by the Goodfellows to purchase gifts for children. Above, Ray Cantrell (from left), accepts the check from members of the Environs Corp. to be used in purchasing Goodfellows' packages. With Cantrell, who is the president of the local Goodfellows are John Wilhide, co-chairman, Kenneth Hall, Phillip Petri and Randy Martin - all members of the corporation. Cantrell said that the check was for over $100.--ANP photo.

Patsy Cantrell gets position

City hires finance director

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

After several months of interviewing scores of applicants, the City of Romulus has hired a new finance director to replace Richard F. Sullivan.

Sullivan left the position to assume political office in Huron Township.

Last week, the City Council approved hiring Mrs. Patsy Cantrell as finance director effective Monday, Dec. 29, 1980 upon the recommendation of Mayor William M. Oakley.

Oakley said Mrs. Cantrell was initially recommended to him by Sullivan who was entrusted by the mayor to screen and interview job applicants.

"I am definitely impressed with Mrs. Cantrell's attitude and background," commented the mayor. "I look forward to having a responsible finance department for the city in the very near future."

The new finance director who is no relation to Councilman Ray Cantrell has a master's degree in business administration from Wayne State University, is married, and has been working as a coordinator for the Wayne-Westland school district.

Mrs. Cantrell will start her new position at $22,000 a year, with a salary increase to $22,750 after six months of employment.

Oakley told council that he explained to her that he could not give her a job contract that carried beyond his current term of office.

Employment of the new finance director has been on the top burner at city hall. Difficulties with the City's new computer, compounded by lack of a finance director, has seriously crippled budget preparation and other financial transactions.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry, prior to the unanimous approval of Mrs. Cantrell, requested a copy of her contract. He explained that he had never seen or been given a copy of the former finance director's contract

The approved motion authorizing Oakley to hire Mrs. Cantrell under a contract also called for copies of that document to be provided for council members.

The council also unanimously voted to adopt a resolution that oppose the sharing of costs by the city of Romulus for repairs made to an interceptor sewer in the Oakland-Macomb sewer system as requested by the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department in a recent communication.

The Detroit agency indicated that costs of repairing the latest break in the "Edison Corridor" could amount to as much as $20 million.

On Sept. 2, 1980, City Council approved a similar resolution opposing the sharing of costs for repairs made in the Oakland-Macomb district for a sewer break at Dequindre and 15 Mile roads.

Notification came to the city from the Wayne County Board of Public Works stating that the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department intended to spread the cost of repairs among all customers of the Detroit system.

In its letter to Romulus and other system customers, the Board of Public Works expressed its "strenuous objection" to the Detroit agency's proposed action to spread repair costs.

Recently, Van Buren Township also took official action to voice its opposition to sharing in the sewer repair costs on the same recent sewer break.

Belvil Hospital: A seniors' complex?

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

The old Belvil Community Hospital, 105 Main St., Belleville, is looming as a possibility either for renovation to or as the site of an area senior citizens housing development.

The suggestion was made last week by Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson at the monthly meeting of the Western Five Community Conference that the building be utilized.

Emerson, who is vice-chairman of Western Five, was supported by Van Buren Township Sup. Pat Cullin, chairman.

Cullin favored Emerson's idea, and in addition, recommended that the consortium director, Henry Redman, investigate further into senior citizens housing in the area.

Emerson said he had been called about a week ago by a Douglas Eschtruph of Eschtruph Realtors in Hazlett and who later made a personal call at his office. The mayor said he conducted Eschtruph on a tour of possible sites in town, including the now defunct hospital.

The realtor told Emerson he would like to have an architect look at the building and left his card.

Friday, Eschtruph was contacted at his Hazlett office and asked about his interest in the old hospital.

He commented: "At this time, I

Homeowners' tax revolt is feared

The city of Romulus last week took action requesting the State Legislature to delay implementation of a new state act requiring Wayne County to provide separate equalization factors to various classes of property.

Of primary concern to Romulus and many other communities is the high equalization factor for residenual properties. Soaring real estate prices over the last three years figure prominently in computation of the 1981 factor for residential properties.

In previous years, only one overall equalization factor was provided by the county Bureau of Taxation for each community.

This year's new residential equalization factor of 1.2746 is up 20.2 percent over last year's 1.06 for Romulus. In other areas, the factor has jumped to more than 30 percent. Dearborn's increase will be 50 percent.

Purpose of the factor is to bring local assessments on residential properties to one-half of their current market value. The factor is based on real estate transactions studied over the last three years.

In discussion at last week's council session, Councilman Ed Rush commented, "I wonder whether the county's interpretation of the state act is an attempt to bail the county out of its financial difficulties because of mismanagement."

The adopted resolution stated in part: "This increase is obviously a totally unfair and an unjustified additional burden upon the residential property users of our community ..."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Gov. Milliken and all area legislators and to surrounding communities.

Even without the new equalization by class called for in the state act, the previous one overall equalization factor for communities would have risen substantially, according to George McEachran, director of the Bureau of Taxation.

But, he noted, heavy activity in residential property sales until recently dictated a dramatic jump in attempts by the state to equalize local property assessments to one-half of current market values as required by state law.

In other property classes — agricultural, commercial and industrial — equalization factors have dropped from last year's overall factor.

Other area communities also are protesting the new factors. Van Buren Township Sup. Pat Cullin will present a resolution to her board calling for a freeze on all state equalized value (SEV) of local residential properties at the 1979 level until the economy has improved and stabilized.

Huron Township Sup. Richard F. Sullivan believes the state Legislature must look to a new method for equalizing residential properties. Unless something of this nature takes place soon, he looks for a tax revolt by homeowners.

Computer continues to cause headaches

Hiring of a new finance director, plus the loan of a new computer to supplement one giving the city headaches, played a large part in swift approval last week of two city warrants by Romulus City Council.

Although passage of such warrants is considered a routine matter, council at its previous session had failed to pass the warrant (81-11). Opposition was due to the computer's inability to provide a printout showing the status of city finances and council's irritation over delay in hiring a new finance director.

Richard F. Sullivan, who held that post, resigned recently to assume the supervisor's post in Huron Township.

Added to the plus factor of a new finance director, Mrs. Patsy Cantrell, was word that the Burroughs Corp. was loaning the city a new B-80 computer to help bail it out of the troubles it was experiencing with a similar model purchased over a year ago.

A memorandum from Raymond Cantrell (no relation) purchasing director, to council stated a computer printout for last July would be available by the week of Jan. 12 and one for August by the week of Jan. 26.

"I would like to say that the Burroughs Corp. seems to be doing everything possible to live up to their obligations at this time," his memorandum stated.

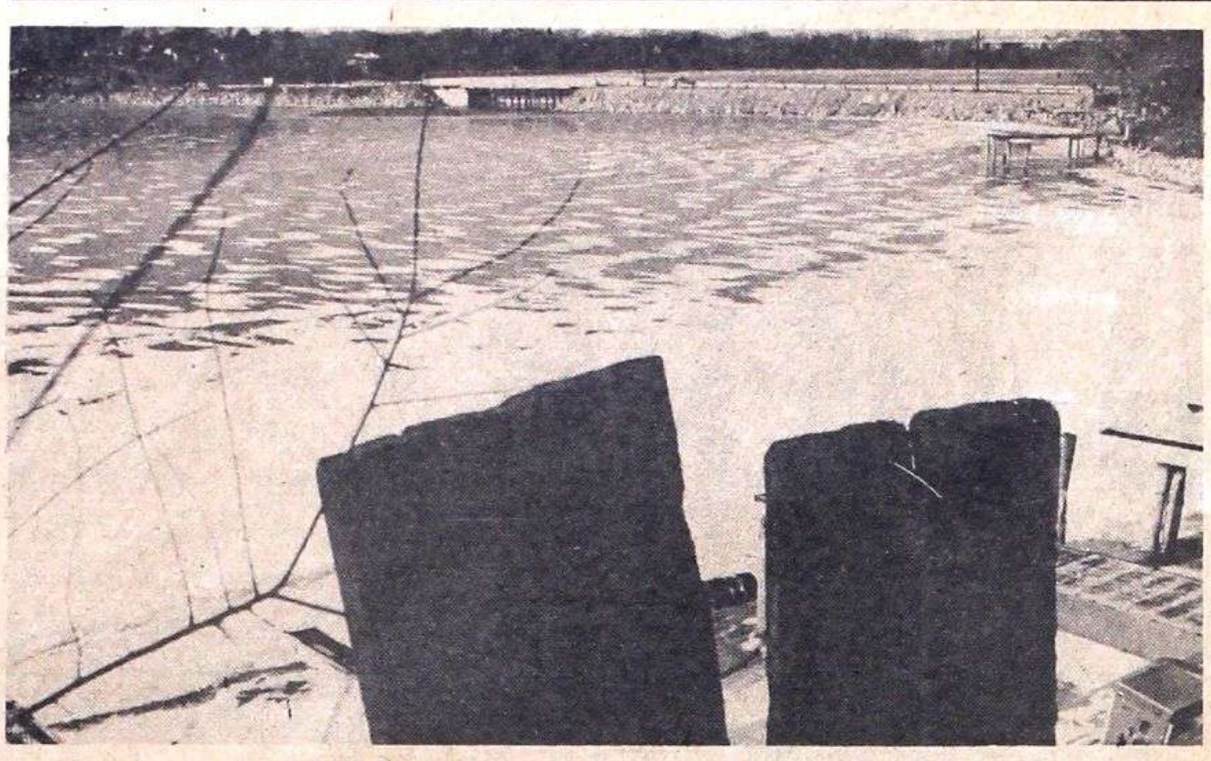
In recent weeks, the city has indicated it might pursue legal action against Burroughs over numerous bugs in the computer and cited similar lawsuits against the firm across the nation on the same model computer.

After passage of city warrant 81-11, council also approved city warrant 81-12. Both measures passed by a 5-2 margin.

Although the city payroll is included in city warrants, Treasurer Beverly McAnally explained that the only time that city employes would not be paid would be if it ran out of funds.

The new finance director, as her predecessor did, will work closely with Hugh Kolman, a management consultant from Doyle Litt of Troy, the accounting firm now under contract to perform the city's audit.

Kolman is in the process of working out financial procedures for city government.



Use caution, please

Although Belleville Lake appears to be inviting and in some places the ice is now thick enough so that ice skating enthusiasts may enjoy the winter sport, township officials warn that in many places the ice is not thick to skate.

"Don't try to venture out on the ice without taking safety precautions, first," officials say. "And don't skate alone is probably the best advice we can give anyone."

Joyner wins a round

County pay hikes to be reconsidered

Pay raises proposed for Wayne County elected officials will be reconsidered by the County Board of Commissioners today, and in the meantime, the board's General Government Committee is studying the issue for recommendation.

Proposals to reject the raise were referred to the committee after submission to the Board by Commissioners Arthur M. Carter and R. William Joyner on Dec. 18. That same day, the two were joined by 10 other commissioners in a petition seeking to overturn a recommendation of the County Officers Compensation Commission to give the elected officials an additional $1,500 annually, beginning in 1982.

According to the State Statute authorizing the Compensation Commission, its recommendation automatically becomes effective unless rejected by the Board of Commissioners. All 27 members of the Board of Commissioners would benefit from the raise, as well as the County Auditors, the County Clerk, Drain Commissioner, Treasurer, Prosecuting Attorney, Register of Deeds and Sheriff.

The Carter-Joyner proposals failed 17 to 6, one vote short of the two-thirds majority needed to reject the raise. Both Carter and Joyner, along with Commissioner Paul G. Citkowski, expressed confidence that the raise recommendation would be defeated on Dec. 29.

The Board of Commissioners has only until Dec. 31 to reject the raise, otherwise the recommendation of the Compensation Commission becomes effective Jan. 1, and a year later the elected officials would begin to receive the additional pay.

Carter said the lack of only one vote indicates that a majority of the commissioners are against the proposed raise.

"We feel we have enough votes to defeat the issue on the 29th, if we have a quorum," he stated. "Here we are in one of the most depressed areas of the country, with Ford Motor Company employees faced with pay freezes, and we're talking about pay increases. We simply can't ask raises for ourselves when many of our neighbors and constituents are without jobs."

Joyner said he is proud and morally obligated to help "lead the fight" against a pay raise.

"I see no justifiable reason for a raise at this point in time," he stated.

Criticizing the commissioners who favor a raise, Joyner said: "Many of them, not so surprisingly, are the same ones that have their names on lists for other county jobs. I am opposed to both a raise and the placement of elected officials into other county jobs when they leave or lose their office."

Other commissioners petitioning against a raise include Rose Mary C. Robinson, George F. Killeen, John J. Korney, all from Detroit, and James J. Rashid, from Dearborn, William G. Suzore, Lincoln Park, Thomas Presnell, Westland, Kay L. Beard, Inkster, Elaine Gregory, Dearborn; plus new commissioner Arthur Blackwell from Highland Park.

Just seated on the board at the Dec. 18 meeting, Blackwell is the 27-year-old son of Highland Park Mayor Robert P. Blackwell and winner in the November election. He was scheduled to take office Jan. 1, but was appointed early to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Martha G. Scott, now a Civil Service Commissioner.

Defeated in November election

Romulus council continues to debate '4-year term' issue

Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley last week told City Council that he disagrees with the state attorney general's opinion on placing a proposal on the ballot calling for 4-year terms of office for all elected local officials.

The mayor's comments in a memorandum to council stated he would have Charles Lowther "pursue the matter and bring back to the City Council a recommendation at a later date."

Previously, council had directed Lowther to draft a ballot proposal for 4-year terms.

But, the city attorney subsequently informed Oakley that, in addition to waiting two years after its defeat last November by local voters, the city must substantially change wording of the proposal, assording to the attorney general's office.

In its direction to the city attorney for such a ballot proposal, council stipulated the 4-year terms be staggered and that the mayor pro tem be elected by a mojority of council.

In other action, council failed to grant approval to George Moore's request that he be given an extension on the approval of a preliminary plat for Darnell Heights Subdivision northeast of the 5-Points intersection.

A challenge of Chairman Mary Ann Banks' ruling that the motion had failed was knocked down under voting with Councilman Jimmie Raspberry serving as acting chariman. First voting on Moore's request ended three for, two against and two abstentions.

Moore first obtained preliminary approval on Dec. 26, 1979, but needed additional time before seeking final approval.

Council also acted to approve a resolution giving the okay to the Economic Development Corporation project plan for American Hospital Supply; appointment of Joyce Palmer, owner of Arc Real Estate, to fill an existing vacancy on the Board of Review; named Clerk Leonard J. Folmar as legislative coordinator for the city to work with the Michigan Municipal League for the 1981 session of the state Legislature.

Acknowledged receipt of a bill for $4,121,50 for all legal services dealing with DetRo Recovery Products from the law offices of Feiler and Glass, Farmington Hills; reappointed Kathy McCallum and Kaye Cohoon for 2-year terms to the Board of Canvassers; recieved word from the mayor that $4,500 had been spent to repair the Bantam Crane; reveived word from the mayor that $3,690 had been spent to repair the asphalt road at Sterling and Bibbins streets caused when a sewer break was repaired.

County taxes are up

"Wayne County property tax statements, normally sent out by December 1st, are running 2 to 3 weeks late as the result of the November 4th Detroit School millage referendum," Raymond J. Wojtowicz, County Treasurer, said today.

"Detroit and Wayne County use the same computer tapes in preparing tax bills," he explained, "and when Detroit held up the tapes pending outcome of the 3.5 mill school proposal, it also restricted the county's ability to process it's own bills.

"Detroit is now releasing statements at the rate of 20,000 per day," he added, "and the the county has completed processing

Romulus names cable TV ordinance panel

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Has recent action to award cable television franchises by Sumpter and Van Buren townships put pressure on the city of Romulus to get off dead center and make a similar decision?

To that end, city council recently appointed a 13-member Romulus Cable Television Ordinance Committee. That body will be entrusted to compile information for a cable TV ordinance which will have to be adopted by the city when a franchise is awarded to a specific company.

Treasurer Beverly McAnally is serving as chairman of the committee and City Attorney Charles Lowther is acting as legal consultant.

Romulus Supt. of Schools William Bedell, a committee member, said the group will appear at the Jan. 6 meeting of the city council to recommend the hiring of a cable TV consultant to aid them.

Dr. Bedell said the committee will justify its recommendation because of the following reasons:

• The decision of what cable TV company to choose is a complex one that requires the services of someone with expertise in the field;

• A tremendous amount of information will have to be decided about matters that will greatly influence what happens in the future for the community in regards to cable TV.

• A recent ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court that the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) can no longer require cable TV companies to provide local public access channels to communities from which they are awarded franchises.

But, Dr. Bedell stressed, local communities can obtain this benefit by having it included in its cable TV ordinance.

• The policy of some communities of relying on the cable TV companies to write ordinances for them. He likened that policy to asking a car salesman which car to buy.

• The right of communities to ask cable TV companies making bid proposals to pay for consultant fees, with the winner of the franchise obligated to pay for all of the consultant fees.

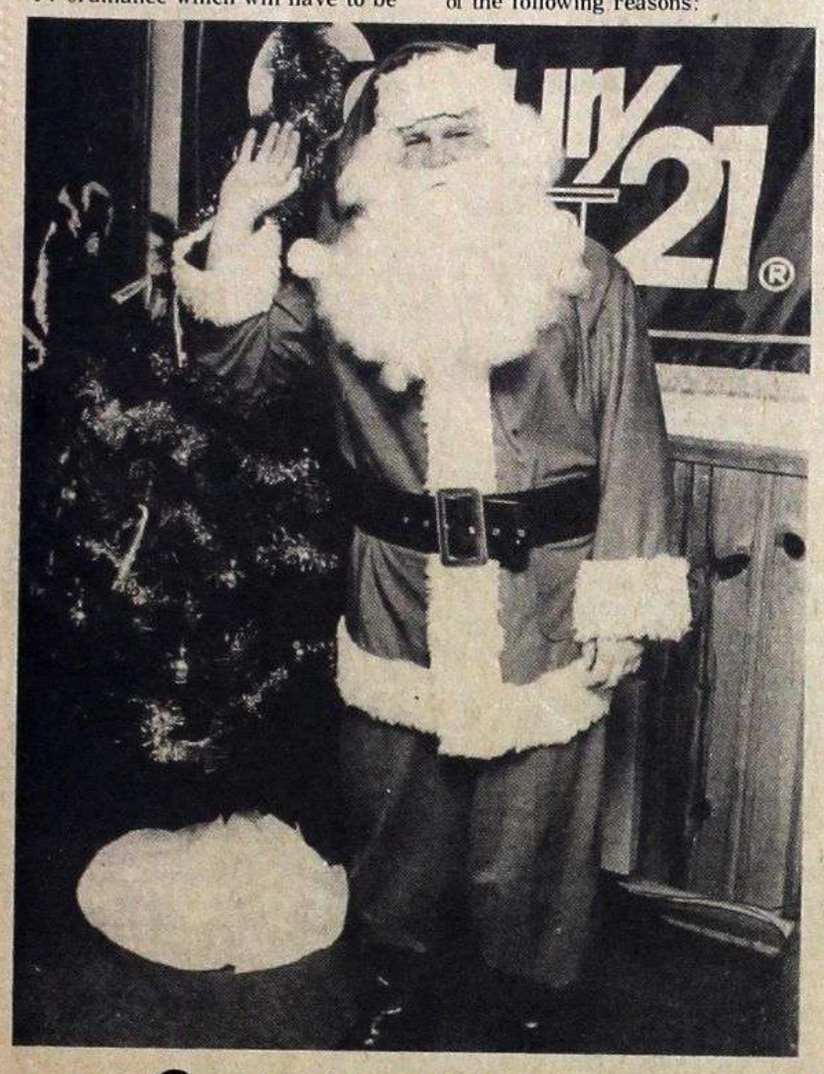
At the Jan. 6 council session, a presentation on the proposals will be made by Dr. Bedell, Pete Silvari and Dennis Davidson.

Members of the cable TV ordinance committee are: McAnally, Dr. Bedell, Silveri, Davidson, Mary Ann Banks, Dan Bales, Vivian Armstrong, Dan Moates, Ron Kraft, Ed Rush, Theresa Washington, Diane Hazen, and Jason Lovette.

A number of companies are currently seeking a franchise to build a system in Romulus.

A rule of thumb policy given by various companies during presentation is: the more subscribers, the cheaper the monthly rates and the greater the number of services.

Inclusion of Romulus in the same cable TV installation as the neighboring communities of Sumpter and Van Buren would thus give Romulus residents greater benefits than if that community awarded a franchise to a new company.



See you next year

Before he leaped on his sleigh and headed back to the North Pole, Santa Claus, nee Dave Bothell, 27, of Romulus who in real life is manager of the Century 21 office in Van Buren Township, waived good-bye and promises to return next year. "Call me at anytime," says Santa, "and remember the Christmas spirit is NOT a one day but a year long thing."

Goodfellows help 115 families

Volunteers raise over $3,500

A total of 115 local families, with from one to eight children, received food, clothing and toys this Christmas season, thanks to the Romulus Goodfellows.

Raymond Cantrell, city purchasing director, who this year served as chairman of the annual Goodfellows newspaper sale drive, said Goodfellows and volunteer helpers raised $3,562.60, about $700 more than last year.

He said about 30 persons sold Goodfellow newspapers in the community last Dec. 13, including members of the Rotary Club and Jaycees, firemen from the city's four fire stations, elected city officials, a reserve police officer, and one member of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

"I want to publicly thank all of these people for their help with the Goodfellows newspaper sale," he said. "Without their assistance, it would not have been the success it was."

Last week, Cantrell said Goodfellows distributed certificates good at designated area stores for food, clothing and toys to needy families, Cantrell added.

For the last eight years, Romulus Goodfellows have conducted their newspaper sale with proceeds earmarked for making Christmas an enjoyable time for families and children who would otherwise not have one.

Cantrell said $450 was set aside from this year's collection to purchase next year's Goodfellow newspapers.

Belvil Hospital—future seniors' home?

am completely undecided. I am looking at a couple of possible sites, but I have made no decisions."

Whether his plans would call for renovation of the hospital building or tear it down to make way for a new structure is still undecided also, he explained.

"The condition of the hospital's interior is a drawback to the property," said Eschtruph.

It turned out that the Hazlett realtor is the same person who was turned down within the last year by the state for a senior citizens housing site near Haggerty Road and I-94 North Service Drive in Van Buren Township.

Eschtruph said he plans to present his findings to a developer and will have an architect come to Belleville to look over the hospital property.

Friday, Emerson said he considered the hospital site "ideal" for location of a senior citizens housing complex. The site's proximity to shopping areas and a pharmacy as required by the state are excellent, he commented.

In two areas, requirements calling for a minimum lot size of three acres and a minimum of 100 units, the site was deficient, he noted.

"However," the mayor said, "we might be able to get around the 100-unit minimum by having 50 units here and 50 units someplace else."

According to Emerson, the Belvil Hospital has been closed for about the last six years after it ran into financial difficulties and also failed to meet state standards.

The mayor said that Dr. E.S. Alford, the original owner, had sold it to a hospital authority which in turn hired an administrator to run the establishment. After it closed its doors, the hospital property reverted back to Dr. Alford, he explained.

Currently listed on the city's tax rolls, the hospital property is now in extremely bad condition on the inside, said the mayor.

"Kids have taken down boards which sealed the building," Emerson said, "and papers and all kinds of rubbish now litter the interior."

He said he had been told that water pipes were frozen and that the interior resembled a war zone.

Emerson's suggestion that the old hospital be used possibly for a senior citizens housing development has raised anew the hopes and dreams of area elders for a place of their own.

At the last general election, Van Buren voters okayed a proposal that would authorize the township to sell 3 to 5 acres of Van Buren Park for use as the site of a senior citizens housing complex.

Before the park site could be used, however, it would have to meet requirements set down by the state for the agency through which federal funding would be obtained.

A news story carried recently in the Associated Newspapers quoted Cullin as saying she did not believe the park site would be acceptable to the state because of excessive noise from airplanes using facilities at nearby Willow Run Airport.

In addition to a senior citizens housing development being built in the Van Buren-Belleville area, a recent suggestion by Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley would have the Western Five investigate another possiblity.

Oakley suggested that an area-wide senior citizens housing complex be constructed on a site that would be centrally located for seniors living in the five communities represented by Western Five — the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron and the cities of Belleville and Romulus.

Redman, the Western Five director, currently is looking into sites that could meet the requirements of a central location and which would fulfill those set down by the state.

He's off to North Pole

Santa says 'call him at any time'

A real estate office manager, who lives in Romulus and works in Van Buren Township, is doing his thing at Christmas — providing a Santa Claus free of charge to anyone or any group that needs one.

Santa conveyed his message as a reminder that he's always around and definitely will be back next year.

"Call me anytime," is the motto of Dave Bothell, 27, manager of the Century 21 real estate office on Belleville Road, just north of the I-94 expressway.

Bothell said he got the idea of being anyone's Santa when he realized that most men who played the role got paid for their services.

"That takes away from the real meaning of Christmas," he stressed. "So, I decided to offer that service free."

His wife, Donna, cooperated by making him a Santa Claus suit and he bought the beard, boots and belt to complement his outfit.

When Bothell is called to perform, he usually provides candy canes and other items at his own expense, in addition to not charging for his transportation to and from his destination.

Bothell, until two weeks ago, had worked for Century 21 in the Wayne-Westland area and most of the calls for his Santa Claus services have come from those two communities.

Since his transfer to the Van Buren office, he has only acted the role of Santa once in this area, that for the Cub Scout pack in Belleville. Most of his Santa Claus performances this year have been repeat calls from last year when he first began portraying the portly old bearded gentleman from the North Pole.

In the last couple of weeks, Bothell had been Santa for the Belleville Cub Scouts and five senior citizen groups and two Headstart organizations in Westland, Wayne and Livonia.

He recently ran an ad in The Associated Newspapers offering his free services as Santa Claus.

On Christmas Day, Bothell is donating a portion of that precious day to being Santa for a senior citizen club in Redford.

"Call me anytime," he chuckled. Bothell can be reached by calling 697-2121.

Folmar completes course

Classes will help administer office

Leonard Folmar, municipal clerk for the city of Romulus, has just completed a three-year university-level program designed to improve the service of the clerk's office to the community. Folmar was one of 22 Michigan municipal clerks completing the Michigan Municipal Clerks Institute at Michigan State University.

Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin presented graduation certificates in MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education on Friday, December 12, at the conclusion of the week-long institute.

The clerk's study — one week a year for three years at MSU — has dealt with elections administration, interpersonal relations, public administration, the role and responsibility of local government, the changing community, and the technical work of the clerk's office.

Completion of the three-year institute fulfills the educational requirement for the Certified Municipal Clerk Award of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks.

The Michigan Municipal Clerks Institute, taught by University faculty and state officials, was sponsored by the Institute for Community Development of MSU's Lifelong Education Programs and the Municipal Clerks Association of Michigan.

The program was developed by the Institute for Community Development, in cooperation with the Michigan Departments of Treasury and State, the Michigan Municipal League, and the International Institute of Municipal Clerks.

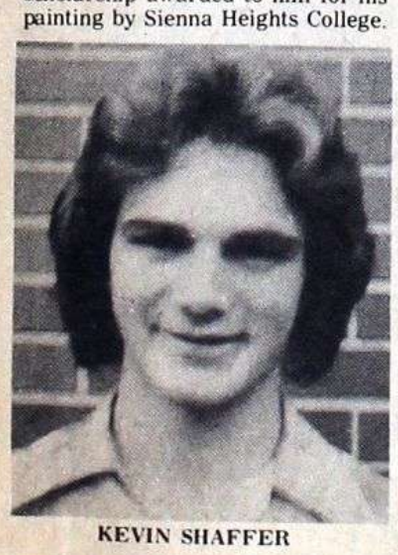
Huron senior wins $750 art scholarship

By DONALD BLISS

Kevin Shaffer will be able to greet the New Year with the knowledge that he is the recipient of a $750 art scholarship awarded to him for his painting by Sienna Heights College.



KEVIN SHAFFER

The 17-year-old New Boston Huron High senior was elated when he discovered that he had won the scholarship.

"Oh my gosh, did I really win it?" he jubilantly shouted.

Shaffer wasn't really aware of his artistic skills until the ninth grade, he says, then, after many people commented on how well he could paint and draw, he began to take it up seriously.

Shaffer likes art both as a hobby and as a skill and is presently working on lead pencil drawings that he plans to enter in the Tel-Twelve Mall Art Competition.

Edward Manning, Shaffer's art teacher at Huron High, entered the drawing, called "Raspberries" in the Sienna Heights exhibition.

"I'm really indebted to Mr. Manning because, without his help and guidance, I'm sure I would have never won," Shaffer said.

Kevin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shaffer of 37945 Sibley Road, New Boston.

Christmas cheers

Christmas was also a time to get together for members of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce who enjoyed good food and good conversation at their annual Open House last week. Dishing out the food is Ron Campbell, owner of the Chop Shoppe, to Patricia Cadden, chamber secretary and Gary Bingamen, chamber president. Some 150 persons took part in the festivities during the four hour open house ceremonies.

Belleville man accused

Did Hardesty kill in California?

Billy E. Hardesty, the young Van Buren Township man who is accused of killing five persons, including his parents, and wounding two others in 1978, now faces a charge of hacking a black California man to death with a machete-like weapon.

Police in Indio, Calif., about 25 miles south of Palm Springs, say Hardesty killed Willie Dunn, 35, in the man's apartment just after he emerged from a shower on Oct. 4, 1978.

Lt. Juan Montez of the Indio Police Dept. said the slaying was a brutal attack in which the victim suffered at least 50 stab wounds. Although a small amount of money was believed taken from Dunn's apartment, police do not believe that robbery was the motive.

Apparently, Hardesty took the dead man's 1969 model car, but the vehicle broke down about 10 miles out of town. Although Indio police would not disclose how they determined that Hardesty was a suspect in the case, they did admit that his fingerprints were found in Dunn's apartment and in his car.

But, a news source back in Michigan said that Hardesty telephoned Los Angeles police to confess to the murder, possibly making the call from the State Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Ypsilanti where he is in custody.

The source said Los Angeles police could not fit Hardesty's description of the slaying to any local crime, but eventually narrowed it down to the Indio murder case.

Also disclosed by the news source was Hardesty's confession of the California slaying to local police and his hope that he might be extradited to the sunny state to avoid standing trial for the multiple murders in Michigan.

Before taking any action, California police authorities are awaiting the outcome of Hardesty's trial scheduled to begin Feb. 2 in Washtenaw Circuit Court before Judge Ross W. Campbell. He will face five charges of murder and two charges of attempted murder.

Lt. Montez said a warrant has been obtained for Hardesty, but that their investigation is in a holding pattern at this time.

Hardesty, now 23, was wounded early on the morning of Oct. 19, 1978 as he carried on a shootout with police while barricaded at the home of his parents on Martz Road in Van Buren Township.

During the early morning hours extending back to the previous night, Hardesty went on a shooting spree which ended with five persons dead and two wounded, police said.

After Hardesty surrendered, police found his mother shot to death and lying on the floor of a bedroom. His father, also shot, was found stuffed into a deep freeze with foodstuffs.

Also found in the house was the body of the family cat, which police said had been strangled.

During his treatment at the forensic facility, Hardesty has been administered powerful drugs. His behavior during that period has been described as erratic and confused.

Red Cross says area blood shortage is at critical stage

Holiday time is traditionally a time of family gatherings and friends sharing the festive season.

For others, it is vacation time. But for the American Red Cross Blood Services of Southeastern Michigan, it is time of decreased blood donations and the possibility of a critical blood shortage.

According to A. W. Shafer, MD, director of the regional Blood Services, blood donations decrease during the holiday season because many businesses and industries which supply much of the blood collected for patient needs are closed during the week between Christmas and New Year's Day.

Dr. Shafer said there is generally a dramatic increase in elective surgery after the holiday season. This, combined with the reduction in donations, could create a major shortage in the supply of blood.

"We are urging everyone who is in good general health and is between the ages of 17 and 65 to visit their local blood center to donate blood," said Dr. Shafer. Seventeen year olds must have written parental permission to donate blood.

The response last year from donors was excellent, according to Shafer. "We feel sure that we will reach our goal of 1,000 pints of blood each day again this year. The people of southeastern Michigan have never failed to respond to the appeal for blood to help supply the sick and injured of their communities," the Blood Services director explained.

To make an appointment to donate blood at the Dearborn Donor Center, call 274-3900. The Detroit Donor Center is located in the Southeastern Michigan Chapter headquarters at 100 Mack Avenue. The phone number for an appointment in Detroit is 883-4440.

"Giving the gift of a lifetime, a blood donation, is the most caring way to start the new year," concluded Dr. Shafer.

County taxes

statements for 40 of the county's 43 cities and townships."

In the meantime, county residential owners, when they do receive their new tax bills, will be in for a shock, according to Director of the Bureau of Taxation, George McEachran. "Increases," he said, "will average 15 percent and more as the result of multiplier factors used to equalize the market values of homes throughout the county. The selling price of property," he continued, "is averaged-out over a 3-year period based onState Equalized Value (SEV) which requires that taxes be paid on 50 percent of what a piece of property may sell for.

Next year — for the first time — property will be divided into five classifications: residential, industrial, commercial, agricultural and developmental and each will have its own multiplier factor," McEachran said.

Hale PTA hears 'case for diploma'

Education is a never-ending proposition and William Smith of the Romulus Adult Education Program encouraged those who attended the December meeting of the Hale Creek PTA to "get their high school diplomas, if they haven't already, and continue their education."

Smith was the guest speaker at the PTA's monthly meeting.

"I want to encourage all the people at this meeting and also ask you to convey this information on to those who are neighbors and friends who have not finished high school to look into the G.E.D. program and the adult education classes.

"They can help change your life, believe me," Smith added.

Registration is scheduled in January for next semester's classes.

Santa, played by James Poet, arrived bringing candy canes and lots of cheer for all the children who came to tell him their secret wishes. Susie Block was Christmas Carole for the evening. Mrs. Leah Bagwell, the PTA photographer, took pictures of the children while talking to Santa, and Pat Hall sketched the lovely backdrop behind Santa's chair.

While the children told Santa about that certain present they wanted under their tree, the parents and the older children were invited to drop in at the PTA Christmas Workshop. There were gifts there ranging in price from 25 cents to $3.50. The Hale Creek PTA sponsors the workshop each year to earn money for school materials and playground equipment.

Van Buren residents turned on by photography classes

"Photography — 35mm Black and White" was a most rewarding class for many Van Buren district residents who participated in the fall leisure class.

The class is designed for the basic beginner. Through a 10 week series of lessons.

The beginner will learn about his/her camera (its parts, capabilities, and limitations), types of films, and various aspects of picture composition.

The 35mm format photography class for beginners will be taught again by Richard Alexa, photographer for the Highway Safety Research Institute in Ann Arbor, staring in February through the Community Education Program.

For further information please call the Community Education Office at 697-9123.

By PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S.

THUMB-SUCKING SYNDROME

Does thumb-sucking lead to crooked teeth? Most experts don't think occasional thumb-sucking in infancy causes any problems with teeth. But there is a general agreement among dentists that prolonged and intensive thumb-sucking past the time the first permanent teeth erupt - at 5 to 6 years of age - can lead to misshapen mouths and displaced teeth.

Actually, the position of individual teeth displaced by thumb-sucking is of less concern to orthodontists than the effect on the bony support of the teeth - and the development of abnormal, deforming muscle activity. If, for example, the habit persists past two years, it could alter the child's swallowing pattern. Once this happens, the youngster may develop a protrusion of the upper front teeth; a narrowness of the upper dental arch; and an obvious malocclusion (improper bite) problem.

As long as there are infants, there will be thumbsuckers. However, if the habit continues longer than usual, it's best to have the child checked by a dentist before it causes any problems.

Miss Kupser is assigned to Chanute Air Force Base

Airman Kim E. Kupser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludvig M. Kupser of 42092 Lincoln, Belleville, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field.

Airman Craig A. Krauss, son of Phillip M. Krauss of 9410 U. S. 12, Brooklyn, has been assigned to Fort Leonard G. Wood, Mo., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will not receive specialized instruction in the civil engineering field.

The airman's mother, Betty J. Krauss, resides at 248 Brentwood, Inkster.

Private R. L. Wilson, son of Carnet Wilson of 34430 Beverly, Romulus, recently completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infanty School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Private John M. Acord, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Acord of 7351 Kenwood, Romulus, recently completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infanty School, For Benning, Ga.

Airman Jeffrey L. Jett, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Q. L. Allen of 20380 Wilmot, Belleville, has graduated from the U. S. Air Force aircraft pneudraulic repair course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Graduates of the course learned how to repair aircraft pneumatic and hydraulic units, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Jett will now serve at RAF Fairford, England.

Private Kevin A. Markham, son of Mrs. Hildagard F. Griffith of 9585 Judd Road, Willis, Mich., and Douglas D. Markham of 32763 Bluebird Lane, Wayne, Mich. have arrived for duty at Nuremberg, West Germany.

Private Markham is a vulcan technician.

Private Christopher A. Woods, son of Edie Y. Woods of 49080 Denton Road, Belleville, and Walter Woods Jr. of 8149 S. Green, Chicago, recently completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Air National Guard Airman Thomas P. Lewandowski, son of Kenneth B. Lane of 14 San Carlos, Belleville, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the civil engineering field.

Airman Lewandowski's grandmother, Mrs. T. Lewandowski, resides at 18 Cherry St., Bradenton, Fla.

Private Johnny Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Covington of 26114 Martinsville, New Boston, recently completed a basic field artillery (cannoneer) course at the U.S. Army Field Artillery Training Center, Fort Sill, Okla.

During the course, students learned the duties of a howitzer or gun section crewman. They also received instruction in handling ammunition, setting fuses and preparing charges, communications and maintenance.

For those born in 1962 and 1963

Service registration is set

Selective Service registration for men born in 1962 will take place during the week of January 5th, 1981. Men born in 1963 (and later) should register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. This is a continuation of the program begun last summer, whereby men born in 1960 and 1961 visited post offices across the nation to fill in the registration form.

The purpose of registration is to build a pool of names and addresses from which Selective Service could draw in an emergency. According to Dr. Bernard D. Rostker, Director of the Selective Service System: "Registration directly improves our capability to respond. . . actually reducing time by at least four weeks. We think that provides a significant advantage, especially when matched with the very low cost of the registration effort." The direct costs of registration are less than $2 per registrant.

By way of background, one of the basic underlying assumptions of the All-Volunteer Force concept was that the country should always maintain a stand-by Selective Service, with an on-going system of registration. When the draft was ended in 1972, registration was in fact continued until suspended in 1975.

Over the next few years, the capabilities of Selective Service steadily declined to an unacceptable level, prompting a total revitalization which began in November 1979. This program—of which registration is part—is designed to return the Selective Service System to the readiness level required for an emergency back-up to our peace time volunteer armed forces. Other actions underway include the development of greatly improved computer support, and the development of a training program for potential draft board members.

Here are some registration guidelines:

WHO must register: Male citizens and aliens residing in the United States born in 1960, 1961 or 1962 except those on student or similar visas or who are members of trade or diplomatic missions, and men already serving on active duty with the Armed Forces. Members of reserve components not on active duty must register. Men born in 1963 and later years will be required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

WHEN: Men born in 1962: during the week of January 5th. To help avoid lines, individuals are encouraged to register on a day of the week keyed to the month of birth: on Monday, January 5, for those born in January, February, and March; on Tuesday, January 6, for those born in April, May and June; on Wednesday, January 7, for those born in July, August, and September; and on Thursday, January 8, for those born in October, November and December. Friday and Saturday may be used as "make-up" days for those who are unable to register on the suggested day.

Men born in 1963: within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

Men born in 1960 and 1961 should already have registered this year; those who have not are encouraged to do so as soon as possible.

WHERE: At any of more than 34,500 U.S. Post Offices throughout the nation, or at embassies or consular offices overseas.

Van Buren, WCCC hosts programs

Combining their resources to help area students, the Van Buren Public Schools and Wayne County Community College will host six college courses at Belleville High School, 501 W. Columbia.

The courses will be offered during the winter term, according to Dr. Elvin Peets, superintendent of the Van Buren Schools.

"We are pleased to work with the Community College to expand educational opportunities to area residents," Supt. Peets said.

Dr. Julius R. Brown, Dean of the Western Region of Wayne County Community College also was enthusiastic over the program.

"This cooperative arrangement is a very welcome occurrence and is indicative of the positive relationship between the college and the Van Buren Schools," Dr. Brown said.

A total of six courses will be offered. There will be three courses in Computer & Data Processing, one each in English, Business Math and Income Tax Accounting.

William A. Loyd, Administrator of the Department of Community Education for Van Buren, has handled the arrangements and can be reached at 697-9123.

If you have any further questions, please call Mrs. Asta MacDonald, Assistant Dean Wayne County Community College, at 721-6220.

WHAT ABOUT MONUMENTS AND MARKERS?
Today granite stones or bronze placques are the most common grave markers used. In times past, monuments have been made of marble, slate, or sandstone; but they proved unable to withstand weathering and are rarely used any more.
Granite comes in a variety of colors including black, gray, white, soft reds and shades in between. The beauty of the finest granite can be identified by the absence of discoloration and seams. Fine granite will have a uniformity of texture and color throughout.
The bronze placque is the least expensive marker one can buy. Many cemeteries today allow only the bronze placque, so it is important to know the regulations of the cemetery you have chosen.
All stones and placques are considered a handcrafted product and the cost is dependent upon size, number of words, special borders or designs, type of floral vase and extras you may want. Installation of munuments and placques is generally an additional charge.

28 are perfect at North Junior High

Twenty-eight Belleville North Junior High School students managed to finish the first semester and earn perfect "all A's" for their second marking period.

Among the seventh graders who reached that coveted plateau are Treasa Fulks, Denise Gary, John Hoy, Melanie Leonard, Kathleen Morris, Jennifer Piper, Laura Slem, Leanna Thomas, Susan Thompson, Lori Vaden, Mark Whitbeck, Kraig Wilson and Erika Woodside.

Eighth graders who had perfect grades are Gregory Addington, Juanita Bailey, Paula Brendtke, Denise Clem, Cheron Hayes, Christina Jones, Tricia Karolyni, Teresa Komaromi, Tracy Lockhart, Chesley Odom, David Scott, Randy Smith and Richard Wu.

There were only two students — Catherine Habel and Jennifer Stoyenoff — who received all A's for the last markings in the ninth grade.

...Or you might not live to regret it. The facts speak for themselves. Drinking and driving are a deadly combination...one that can turn any holiday into a disaster. Saying no to that New Year's drink can mean the difference between life and death. Plan your holiday celebrating the smart way. Don't drink and then drive...and see that others are in shape to get behind the wheel. Make this a safe and happy New Year.

Christmas is also a time for partying

No politics, just good food and friends

The holidays gave members of the local industrial comumity, city officials and friends an opportunity to get together last week at the Hilton for an "Industrial Christmas Party". And Mayor William Oakley (at right) had a chance to talk and smile with George Yousuf, (from left), owner of the Tigres Restaurant, Leo Kalota, Vice-President of the local branch of the Manufacturers National Bank, and Ron Hopson, Franklin Life Insurance representative in the city and area.

Having a ball

Break in the action

The holidays mean a lot of things for a lot of people. It is also an opportunity to pause and chitchat with your fellow employees. And that's what some of the members of the city hall and chamber of commerce did last week at the annual chamber's Christmas Party. Pictured above are Jo Ann Marvics, member of the Romulus Board of Education, (from left), Dennis Davidson, director of the Romulus Parks and Recreation Department, Ron Hopson, Vice President of the Chamber of Commerce and Bill Cox, director of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce.

It's party time

Signing in for the annual Chamber of Commerce's Christmas Party are Candy Jones (from left), Mark Lewkowicz, president and plant manager of Landis Machine Shop and Mr. and Mrs. John Lewkowicz. More than 400 persons showed up for the ceremonies and fete which, aside from the excellent food, also included interesting dialogue about the economy.

State police warn

Holiday excitement could be fatal

With Michigan indicating a traffic death toll below 2,000 for the sixth time in the last seven years, State Police Director, Col. Gerald Hough today urged motorist and pedestrian cooperation in extending this improvement in travel safety through the holiday periods to the year end.

Hough emphasized that the holiday season provides an especially appropriate time for motorists and pedestrians to show goodwill and concern for safety by exerting the extra attention needed for traffic accident prevention.

He cautioned that general holiday excitement can distract motorists from giving full attention to hazards of reduced visibility, snowy or icy roads and excessive speeds. He advised motorists to refrain from driving when and if their holiday celebrating includes any immoderate drinking.

Data to date includes Michigan's traffic toll this year provisionally will be around 1,825. Last year the toll was 1,849. In the 1964-73 period the tolls all were over 2,000, the state's worst on record being 2,487 in 1969.

The holiday periods this year will be 102 hours long, extending from 6 p.m. Wednesday through to midnight Sunday for both the Christmas and New Year periods. Traffic accidents claimed 29 deaths during Christmas and 27 during New Year's in 102-hour periods last year in Michigan.

All State Police districts and posts will operate highway patrols as manpower permits.

Working teens must have adult supervision

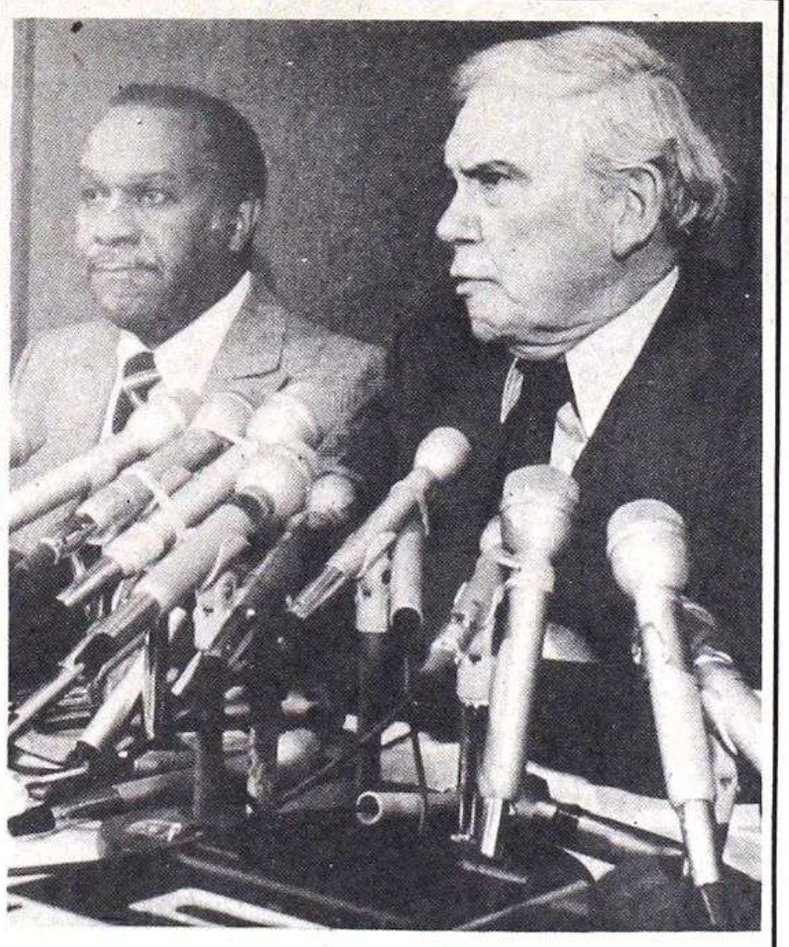
Young teenagers whose jobs require them to work at night handling money would either get adult supervision or their employers could go to jail, under legislation approved by the Michigan Legislature, according to Rep. William Keith.

The tough terms of the bill are a direct result of the shooting death of a 16-year-old Garden City youth, murdered while working alone in a late night gas station, and would put new, sharper teeth in the Youth Employment Standards Act, which sets working hour limits for youngsters under 18 but contains no supervision requirements.

"Enterprising young people are being assaulted, robbed, and killed because they are working alone at jobs which require the handling of money," Keith said. "These needless killings occur because teenagers become easy prey for criminals."

Penalties for violating the adult supervision clause would be raised to up to one year in jail or a $2,000 fine or both for the first offense, and up to two years imprisonment or a $5,000 fine or both for a second offense.

A third or subsequent offense would be a felony punishable by up to ten years in prison or a fine of up to $10,000 or both.



Grim auto outlook

With more than 300,000 auto workers strangled in unemployment lines across the nation and the outlook for auto industry for the next year looking grim again, Douglas A. Fraser, President of the UAW (at right) met with his colleagues, members of the auto industry and the mass media last week in Romulus to discuss the deep depression the nation is in. Fraser demanded that the federal government must seriously consider putting heavy import duties on foreign made cars and trucks, that federal regulation in the local auto industry must be seriously re-examined and that if fast action on import restrictions are not taken the consequences would have a devastating effect on the country.

At Diesel Allison

Goodspeed is named general sales manager

Alvin B. Goodspeed, general director of export sales, automotive components for the General Motors Marketing Staff, has been named general sales manager of Detroit Diesel Allison Division, General Motors Corporation.

In his new position, Goodspeed will have executive responsibility for the division's sales and service operation, worldwide, according to Donald J. Atwood, DDA general manager and a GM vice president.

He replaces Chester B. Clum, effective January 1, 1981. Clum will be on special assignment until his retirement March 1, 1981, Atwood said.

A native of Hibbing, Minn., Goodspeed was graduated from Marquette University in 1948 with a bachelor of philosophy degree in speech. He was awarded a bachelor of law degree by Marquette in 1951.

He joined General Motors with the AC Spark Plug Division in 1952 in Milwaukee, Wis., as a contract coordinator. He subsequently held the positions of contracts manager, director of sales, and director of material at AC's Milwaukee Operations.

In 1970, Goodspeed was named general sales manager for the newly formed Delco Electronics Division in Kokomo, Ind. He moved to GM Overseas Operations in 1973 as manager of sales coordination for the automotive components staff in Detroit. He has been general director of export sales for automotive components with the GM Marketing Staff since 1978.

Clum, a native of New York and a graduate of General Motors Institute in Flint, Mich., joined the former Detroit Diesel Engine Division as a sales engineer in 1949. He later served as zone sales manager, then regional manager of the division's Midwestern Region in Chicago. In 1959, he became general service manager for the division in Detroit, later being appointed automotive sales manager, here.

Clum joined the GM Marketing Staff in 1963 and served in various capacities related to the marketing of trucks. A year after the merger of the Detroit Diesel Engine and Allison divisions in 1970, he was transferred to the Detroit Diesel Allison Indianapolis Operations as manager of industrial gas turbine sales. Later that same year, he became sales manager for IndianapolisOperations as manager of industrial gas turbine sales. Later the same year, he became sales manager for Indianapolis Operations. He has been general sale manager of the division, with headquarters in Detroit, since 1974.

Brandy Alexander Pie

A spirited pie in the traditional mood is the perfect way to highlight the holiday season, and it is even more appealing when it is deceptively easy to prepare.

Fluffy Brandy Alexander Pie is a creamy, light dessert with a subtle flavor that looks and tastes festive. The luscious pie filling is prepared in one bowl--a spot of brandy and creme de cacao blend beautifully with vanilla flavor instant pudding and pie filling and prepared whipped topping. Spoon the mixture into a pie shell and it is ready to serve in three hours.

Layered Mincemeat Pie is also tailor-made for the holidays. It uses the cooked version of pudding and pie filling in combination with mincemeat and whipped topping for a striking layered effect.

Fluffy Brandy Alexander Pie

2 cups cold milk
2 tablespoons brandy
2 tablespoons creme de cacao liqueur
1 envelope Dream Whip whipped topping mix
1 package (6-serving size) Jell-O vanilla flavor instant pudding and pie filling
1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled

Combine milk, brandy, liqueur, whipped topping mix and pudding mix in deep narrow-bottom mixer bowl. Beat at low speed of electric mixer until well blended. Gradually increase beating speed and beat until mixture will form soft peaks, about 3 to 6 minutes. Spoon into pie shell. Chill about 3 hours or freeze until firm. Garnish with chocolate curls, if desired.

potpourri

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

With another holiday now "Christmas Past" and the new year only hours away, there's one vow I'm determined to carry out 12 months from now and that's to get my head on straight!

You might not recall that a year ago this "potpourri", I expounded on what a resolution maker I was NOT. But -- having been completely and utterly disorganized this past season, there just HAS to be a better way.

Of course, I found people were much more willing to hear me out THIS year when I was a frazzled, addlepated mess than LAST year when, by Thanksgiving, I had gifts bought and wrapped, cards addressed and Yuletide notes written and my holiday baking well underway. Everyone considered me some kind of eccentric nut and would turn away distainfully when I'd boast of how I had things so well in hand. At least this year I was loved .... (ahem.)

Things just got out of control somewhere along the line, around the end of November when, suddenly, Thanksgiving was no longer looming on the horizon but was over. . . history!

And there I was with only a couple piddly gifts on the shelf, wrapping paper and Christmas cards not even purchased and those staples such as flour and sugar and all the other stuff which produces holiday goodies just one big void in my pantry.

And of all the times to be dashing around like an idiot, it should NOT have been this year when I had the kids home PRE-holiday and should have been able to just enjoy their presence and do all the things that are pleasurable to us! I am very angry at myself for having procrastinated and ashamed to say that those who usually receive notes or letters from me at this season haven't even gotten their CARDS -- they are addressed but still awaiting those yearly "fill-in's" to those we seldom see. Cheez!

But enough of my whining. Surprisingly, we did manage to get a variety of cookies and bars stored away in the freezer and some brown bread and cereal snack mix put aside for munching. And we DID tuck in a neighborhood open house and a Christmas Eve brunch before our Illinois trio took off for the east side of the state. And instead of our nice leisurely (cut throat) games of "Pounce" (a card game) and "Spill 'n Spell", we just reserved spare moments for that little boy who is part of that much-loved threesome.

Everything was so exciting for Matthew, now a grown up year-and-a-half, and we rejoiced in seeing his delight with each new discovery. And, like kids the country over, those store-bought toys just ceased to exist when there were such wonders as yardsticks, his granddad's exercise wheel, bunches of keys, empty wrapping paper tubes, toilet bowl brushes and his grandmum's lazy Susan spice cupboard to fill his waking hours.

The high point of his first ambulatory Christmas was handing gifts to each of us and then getting to tear the paper off, the contents being of very little interest to our toddler.

And though guilt for being lackadaisical still lingers for yours truly, there are no regrets over having bypassed them in favor of devoting the time to our Number One houseguest.

There were several books exchanged at our house over the past week and from "American Averages" which I received come many, many "Amazing Facts of Everyday Life" as the sub-title promises. It is most interesting reading and, for those of you who like statistics, here are some of its contents.

The average American woman is more likely to go to church than is the average American man. Widows are particularly likely to go, followed by single and divorced women, married women without children and married mothers.

Ninety-four in 100 of us believe in God. That's down a bit from a quarter of a century ago, when 98 in 100 Americans professed religious belief. Of the 94 faithful, 61 are Protestants, 27 are Catholics, two are Jews and four are adherents of some other religion.

The average American college man owns five pairs of jeans while the average American co-ed owns six pairs.

According to a study conducted in 1948 and still cited in social-science literature, 25 to 36 of every 100 college students bite their fingernails.

The average person blinks 25 times a minute. (Figure that on a weekly basis and see how much of the time you had your eyes closed!

The average grandson or granddaughter of Russian immigrants to the United States makes more money than the grandchildren of immigrants from any other country.

And . . . on an average day in America 500 million cups of coffee are drunk; 10,205 people give blood; 3 million people go to the movies and one American in eight has a beer.

TIRED OF PASSING UP hot chocolate mixes because of the outrageous prices stamped atop? We've not had a tin of the mixture in our house for eons mainly because the big hot chocolate drinkers are no longer around to stir up a cupful.

But with the poor bod inwardly screaming for something HOT these post-Christmas days, it WOULD be nice to brew a cup of that good beverage once in awhile (just to break the coffee monopoly.)

Found this make-it-yourself hot cocoa mix and thought perhaps you'd like to try it, too. Of course, for it to be economical, you'd have to have the listed ingredients as part of your usual pantry supply.

HOT COCOA MIX

1½ cups sugar, preferably super-fine granulated
1 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder
1 cup non-dairy coffee creamer powder
¾ cup unsweetened cocoa
1 vanilla bean, split (optional)

In a large bowl, stir together first three ingredients, then sift in cocoa and stir thoroughly. Fill a quart jar with the mixture. Insert vanilla bean down center of jar to add flavor. Screw cap on tightly and store in a cool dry place. To make one serving, place 4 heaping teaspoons of mix in a large cup or mug; add boiling water and stir. Vary measure of mix and water to suit your own taste and with size of cup. Makes enough for 16 1-cup servings.

A woman sent a dinner invitation to her doctor and in reply received a letter in such a bad handwriting that she couldn't read it.

Wishing to know if he had accepted or refused, she took it to her corner druggist to decipher. The druggist gave the letter a quick glance and, before she could explain her purpose, disappeared into the back room.

Soon he came out with a bottle which he handed her, saying, "That'll be five dollars, please."

The above story leads into the word "cacography" which is the learned term for illegible handwriting and the humor it sometimes breeds. And 'taint just the doctors who go 'round with scribbles they call handwriting -- have you ever tried to decipher a restaurant tab or a hurried note from your mate?

Noticing an emergency crew out repairing lines on Christmas Day made me stop to appreciate all the people who have their assigned duties and are not able to be with their families on that special day -- the newspaper man, telephone operators and repair crews, nurses and other hospital staff, police and firemen, airlines crews and airport attendants and other public transportation personnel, clergymen, security guards, emergency road crews, waiters and waitresses (I hate the term "waitperson"), radio and television employees and, perhaps, even a few gas station attendants?

THE BOTTOM LINE: We don't stop having fun when we're old; we're old when we stop having fun.

New on the scene

"Jonathan James" is the title given to the new heir born Dec. 8 to James and Janet Dargo of 12724 Martinsville Rd., Belleville. Putting in his appearance at Annapolis Hospital at 8:56 p.m. the newcomer weighed in at 8 lbs. - 5 ozs. and measured 22 inches.

The Dargo's first child, he is the new grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dargo and Mr. and Mrs. Felix Modzelewski, all of Belleville.

Taking bows in the great-grandparent division are 85-year-old Mrs. Bernice Tupacz of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Babik of Belleville, who are 93 and 91-years old, respectively, Mr. Babik having turned 93 on Christmas Eve. His wife was at the hospital to see the newest member of the family but, due to a broken hip, he was unable to make the trip.

Jonathan's third great-grandmother, Mrs. Martha Modzelewski, 88, is confined to a Detroit nursing home

"It's a boy!" is the news announced by Wally and Kathy Steuck of 20749 Martinsville Rd., Belleville, since the arrival Nov. 28 of their first child, Erik Robert.

Premiering the day after Thanksgiving at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, the new addition had a 3:50 a.m. delivery time, weighed 8 lbs. - 5 ozs. and measured 20½ inches.

Erik is the new grandson of Walter and Irene Steuck and Howard and Jacquelyn Nugent, all of Belleville, and the great-grandson of Mrs. Anna Drum of Taylor, Mrs. Helen Wegner of Howell and Charles Crossett of Oak Park.

The new mother is the former Kathy Nugent.

Free screening tests slated by state cancer foundation

The Michigan Cancer Foundation will sponsor free screening tests for breast and cervical cancer at its West Service Center, 3307 Greenfield in Dearborn, next month.

The following clinics are scheduled at the Center from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.:

Tues., Jan. 6 - Pap Clinic for Cervical Cancer Detection

Thurs., Jan. 15 - Breast Cancer Detection Clinic

Tues., Jan. 20 - Pap Clinic

Thurs., Jan. 29 - Breast Cancer Detection Clinic

"Early detection is still our most important weapon against cancer. Through these examinations, we are significantly reducing the number of serious cases of cervical and breast cancer, the leading causes of cancer deaths among women," said Dr. Michael J. Brennan, President and Medical Director of the Foundation.

For more information or to schedule an appointment at one of the clinics, call the West Service Center at 336-4110.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation is the state's only cancer research and control agency. It is a Torch Drive-United Way agency.

"The Deception" by Celia Dale. There wasn't a doubt in the neighbor's minds -- Leonard and Enid Henderson were a devoted couple. True, they kept pretty much to themselves. Nice Enid had her garden and her semi-detached house and gentle Leonard had his assistant advertising manager's job in London with a venerable (some might say aging) firm. Then Leonard came home from work one evening and discovered Enid dead on the living room floor. Apparently murdered. But why? She hadn't an enemy in the world.

"Five Minutes to Midnight" by Sabi Shabtai. Never before has a novel traced the unfolding conflict between Western democracy and the specter of international terrorism in such chilling and factual detail.

"Called Away" by Perdita Buchan. A suburban-bred couple go to the Vermont woods where a spell captures the wife and holds her for an eerie enchantment.

ARTS, CRAFTS

"The Historian's Toybox" by Eugene F. Provenzo. Why spend time buying toys that are either easily broken or quickly discarded? Now, with The Historian's Toybox, you can save money and at the same time know that your child is playing with homemade toys that are educational and fun.

"Stained Glass: Traditions and Techniques" by Joan Scobey. A treasure trove of information and ideas, this is the perfect introduction to a craft that offers endless possibilities for creative enjoyment.

ANIMALS

"Creature Comforts" by Joan Ward-Harris. In this informative and sensitively written book, the land and its creatures come vibrantly alive as the author shares with us her experiences of humor, heartbreak and delight -- the unique experiences of a remarkable and compassionate woman who loves animals as much as she loves life.

"Animal Days" by Desmond Morris. In this delightfully entertaining account of the amazing ways of creatures of the earth, sea and sky, the author recalls a lifetime of passionate observation of our fellow species.

4-H cruise leader training classes to start Jan. 8

Wayne County youth of high school age will again be offered the opportunity to study and travel the Great Lakes by participating in 4-H Cruise Leader Training.

Developed by Pat Livingston, Wayne County 4-H Sea Grant Agent, the course includes Great Lakes training cruises and field trips to explore careers in marine related industries as well as evening classes at the Wayne Extension and Education Center in Wayne.

During the training program which runs from Jan. 8 through June 1981, participants will learn basic skills in oceanography, seamanship, navigation, sailing, marine technology and marine management.

They will also receive instruction in marine life and coastal resources identification, coldwater survival and personal safety.

After completing the training, participants will use their teaching skills to educate others about the Great Lakes water resources and prepare them for 4-H Great Lakes Heritage summer marine adventures. They will also be responsible for recruiting participants to the program for the following year.

"The 4-H Cruise Leader Training Program aims to provide youth a thorough Great Lakes experience, Livingston explains.

He points out that persons wishing to participate in the program must also be willing to share their knowledge and experiences with others and communicate to various people about the Great Lakes and their importance to the state.

Those wishing to participate may apply by contacting their local 4-H representative or contacting the 4-H Great Lakes Heritage Project at 721-6576.

The 4-H Great Lakes Heritage Project, a joint effort of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, Michigan State University and the Michigan Sea Grant Program, works to provide youths of all ages with unique experiences in exploring and learning about the Great Lakes and the role they play in the lives of people in Wayne County.

Junior Study Club holds holiday party

The December meeting of the Belleville Junior Study Club took place at the home of club president, Cathy Horste, who welcomed 12 members and three guests, Mary Ann Summers, Gina Kuhn and Delphine Dudick to the traditional Christmas party.

With each member contributing a favorite dish, the buffet table was a literal smorgasbord with fresh fruit compote, stuffed mushrooms, cheese balls, cakes and candies adding to the ham menu.

The yearly gift exchange was also part of the festivities as was the appearance of an unexpected Santa Claus who came crashing in amid much bell ringing shortly after the business meeting. He also led in the singing of Christmas carols with Phyllis Smith at the piano and later sang a solo of "Silent Night".

The business session centered on the availability of cash scholarships from the Michigan Federated Women's Clubs for Belleville High School students interested in art, nursing and the Interlochen Music Camp.

Education chairman Sandra Lauth reported she was in the process of contacting the high school which is to select the students to apply for the scholarships.

Welcome 1981 — you bring hope

Welcome 1981 — we're very happy to see you.

And, boy, are we glad 1980 is just history. Did it cause us problems! Around the world. In our homelands. In our state and county.

Welcome 1981 — this is the year we will bring our people home from Iran. This is the year we refuse to be pushed around. In any spot on this globe, we are ready for the challenges, whatever and wherever they may be.

Welcome 1981 — this is the year the U.S. auto industry will regain its image as the best in the world. A year when we can prove to the world that American know-how and ability can solve any of its problems.

Wasn't it the Russians who first launched their Sputnik into outer space ... but it was America which landed the first and only man-piloted spacecraft on the moon.

Welcome 1981 — as we welcome a new President into the White House. We wish Ronald Reagan well, and we need not tell him about the sense of urgency with which all of us await his decisions on the economy, inflation, unemployment. There is panic in the air and, knowing full well that one man can't solve all of this nation's ills, we can only hope that four years from now we can say: "Thank you for getting us back on our feet."

Welcome 1981 — you come at no better time in our history. You bring us hope, and that's more than 1980 gave us.

A tax revolt is gaining forces

We don't think the state and federal governments got the message — people are sick of the ever-increasing, never-ending burden of taxes.

The mail that is coming our way emphasizes that "Tisch is not dead." There is a homeowners,' people's tax revolt abrewing, and if the state legislature and the federal government didn't get the message the last time around at the polls, they inevitably will at the next voting opportunity.

We realize that it costs money to run government, for police and fire protection, for the multitude of services provided by government. We realize that this country needs and must maintain a strong armed services, and that national defense and might is the best way to deter an enemy attack.

But when you can't feed or clothe your children because most of your paycheck (if you're fortunate to be working) goes to some form of tax, then it's time for another tea party.

And, as we read our mail today, that so called "silent majority" is ready to become even more vocal at the voting polls.

Legislators get fat as common man suffers

Only yesterday a friend of mine alerted me to the fact that as recently as a couple of years ago, our state legislators wanted more benefits for their jobs.

And now again they're trying to stuff their own Christmas stockings at the expense of the taxpayers who put them into office. I feel that enough is enough.

Over the years more and more I am finding myself as a member of the general public who is ill at ease at what legislators are not doing for us, but are doing to us. It is frightening to look at the double standards they have set up—raises for themselves, higher taxes for us, and we can't do anything about it.

Didn't they learn from the Tisch scare? Tisch didn't become a reality because we believe in our government; however, recent actions by our own legislators have shown that maybe it is time for us to teach these people the cold facts of life.

More and more of us in Southeastern Michigan are being forced into unemployment lines—a tragedy of joblessness that is compounded by the fact that there is double-digit inflation and high interest rates. All of this reduces the "common person" to nothing but a pawn.

Desperately needed human and public services are being cut during these trying times.

If state police and others are willing to take pay cuts, by-pass raises so that their fellow workers can stay on the job, then the raises proposed for all state and county officials should also be placed in a "hold situation." All raises should be frozen.

It is ironic that when jobs are so desperately needed here, a major auto-maker hired a New York firm to level old Dodge Main and parts of Poletown—when a number of local firms are qualified to do the same job at lesser costs.

These Michigan legislators have already passed SB 187, a sweet plum for their retirement. If the House also approves the bill and it is signed by the governor, the bill would:

*After 14 years of service, provide the legislator with 65 percent of his current salary after retirement; and

*The 3 percent automatic cost of living payable each January 1 (compounded) would go up to 5 percent.

Not too long ago, public hearings were conducted on HB 4573 and HB 4332, containing a 3 percent COLA for school and state retirees.

And who is going to pay for all of this? You guessed it! The taxpayers.

And, with more than 400,000 of us out of work in this state, the time is approaching when the state will have no one working to pay the taxes for those elite few that "serve us" in the state legislature.

A holiday story

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

One usually gets lost in the Christmas and holiday stories that seem to abound in newspapers, radio and TV.

There are stories of tragedies of Christmas trees that somehow catch fire; of people drinking too much and erasing themselves and some stranger from the human race.

And, of course, there are the stories of organizations and individuals befriending the less fortunates, of those who help improve the human condition instead of wasting it.

Who can ever forget Charles Dickens's immortal "A Christmas Carol" or O.Henry's "The Gift of the Magi" or "Miracle on 34th Street"?

This battered humanity of ours needs the necessary boost to battle some of the sordid facts of reality.

And there is one story I would like to add to the many, many others that have found their way in print. It's about a young lady who is employed as a waitress in Van Buren. A waitress for Denny's Restaurant on Rawsonville Road.

This gracious lady's name is Tina Sweatt. She doesn't seek publicity. And this little note about her probably will catch her by surprise, but in her quiet and unpretentious way she has brought many a smile to many a child's face on Christmas.

Each year before Christmas, Ms. Sweatt has baked cakes; and with the permission of Denny's Restaurant's management, she has displayed these cakes to the public who grab them up for a fee. The monies raised from Ms. Sweatt's cakes are donated to the Van Buren - Belleville Goodfellows.

"I really don't know how to thank these people," said Jerry Maton, who serves as president of the Goodfellows in those communities. "Ms. Sweatt and her fellow workers have made a tradition out of this thing, and there are a lot of happy kids because of their efforts."

It may be a story that reddens Ms. Sweatt's face, but it also is a story about people who believe in doing things for others. They believe in the Christmas spirit.

Maton had another story to relate.

"One of my colleagues was having some reservations about accepting a check from a woman, and called me into the discussion. When I saw the check I immediately understood his feelings.

"This woman made out the check for $100, and we usually don't have a person on the street write anything for that amount, but when she explained her story I understood," Maton continued. "It seems that she and her family had fallen on hard times in the early fifties and the Goodfellows came through and helped them.

"Now, she told me, this was the least she could do in a way of repayment."

I'm sure each and every one of us has his or her unique Christmas story.

Some may be sad; others happy.

But, after hearing and reading about so many good people, how can we ever become angry with the human race?

HAPPY NEW YEAR, EVERYONE.

Booze, kids and cars: Tragic holiday combination

By F. HILLENBRAND

Item: A youth, blind-drunk, stumbled and fell on the median strip of a major highway. He picked himself up, only to fall again, this time onto the road. He was struck and killed by a car.

Item: "Betty," age 15, got her first taste of liquor in the back seat of the family car, parked outside a laundromat. In minutes she downed half a bottle of rum bought by two friends. The friends thought Betty was funny when she got drunk. On the way home, Betty passed out so her friends let her "sleep it off." Betty never woke. She died of alcohol overdose. "I didn't know people could die from drinking," one friend said later.

Item: Ten teens were killed when the driver of a pickup truck in which they were riding lost control and crashed. The driver, allegedly drunk, received ten manslaughter convictions.

These lives are among thousands that could have been saved if parents would only talk to their teenagers about alcohol, says Ken Barter, community education coordinator with the Fairfax County, Va., Alcohol Safety Action Program (ASAP).

Last year Barter directed an innovative experiment aimed at curtailing drunken driving among high school students. Although this agency's primary responsibility is rehabilitating people convicted of drunken driving, they are also charged with prevention of alcohol abuse.

With enthusiastic support from the area's Parent-Teacher-Student Association (PTSA), ASAP sponsored a series of seminars for parents and teens at four area high schools. The programs were designed, simply, to help families talk to each other better, easier and more effectively. "Adolescence is a time when young people test out adult behaviors, drinking among them," said Barter. "Even though parents may not want to recognize it, drinking is a normal part of life in this society. Kids, who are learning how to be adults, are going to experiment with it.

"Parents need to talk to their teens about sex, about hitch-hiking, fighting and other behavior—including drinking. The earlier the better. Not discussing these issues doesn't mean they don't exist. National studies have shown that by their senior year 90 per cent of all teens have been exposed to alcohol. Drunk driving is an issue every teenager faces whether they drink or not," Barter said.

Few subjects generate as much concern and conflict as teen drinking. Simple as it may sound, trying to tell a teen about drinking isn't easy. But such discussion could be a life-or-death event:

The National Center for Disease Control says alcohol-related highway crashes are the 'number one' cause of death among 15 to 24 year olds. And ironically, the life expectancy among American teens has been decreasing while it has been increasing for every other age group. Another study shows half of all highway fatalities involve alcohol abuse.

In Fairfax County, a researcher found that alcohol abuse among residents—teens and adults alike—is significantly higher than the national norm. Local teens in this sprawling suburb of Washington, D.C. are more affluent than most. They have less access to mass transportation and many have personal cars, making the tragic mixture of booze, cars and young drivers more common.

Despite hundreds of incidents and many deaths, there is insufficient alcohol education taught in schools.

Under the direction of two therapists from the local mental health center, the seminars featured many techniques from the popular parent-effectiveness training courses. Still, many parents were not comfortable with an open discussion about child raising and discipline, especially one that centered on such a personal concern as alcohol use and abuse.

"You have to honestly explore your own behavior when drinking, before discussing alcohol use with your child," one therapist said. "Oddly, most of the parents wanted to know if it really was 'o.k.' to put limits on their teens. Many reported that other types of adolescent rebellion seemed to get in the way of true discussion."

It's hard to talk about drinking and driving if there hasn't been any real dialogue before," Barter added.

In fact, parents have the legal and moral responsibility to protect the lives of their children. A juvenile court judge who spoke at one of the sessions urged parents to give their children a clear picture of what they expect and the consequences of violation. A parent and strict disciplinarian himself, he said each family was different, and outlined a number of approaches to this common problem.

If a teen finds himself in a situation where either he or another driver has had too much to drink to drive home, alternatives include staying overnight with a friend, taking a bus or cab home, finding someone else to ride with—or calling home for a ride, anytime, day or night. Of course, this means that the parents must be willing to go and pick up their children, anytime, day or night. The counselors also strongly suggest parents avoid discussing behavior problems with teens until they are completely sober.

Teens at the sessions commented on "very real" peer pressure to drink. Some advocated instituting a "buddy" system on drinking nights, and said they relied on their driving friends to stay sober.

Teens and parents said that they did not have enough information about alcohol use to discuss this issue. Among the facts proved vital to such dialogues:

—That the "kick" or lift from alcohol is actually an effect created by numbing or depressing the inhibitory center of the brain.

—That cold showers or black coffee will not sober a person up. Alcohol is eliminated from the bloodstream by the action of the liver, and this process takes time.

—Alcohol affects not only a person's reaction time, but his perception of it. He therefore may think his senses are sharp when in fact they are not.

—You can't tell that a person has had too much to drink by the way he walks and talks.

—That driving while intoxicated is not only life-threatening, it is also a crime punished by loss of the right to drive, permanently.

These are seemingly simple facts. Yet simple discussion has proved to have a profound effect on teens' behavior, though few teens are apt to admit it to their folks. According to a national study conducted by the National Highway Safety Administration, most teens reported they respect their parents' views on drinking.

Furthermore, more than half of the teens participating in the sessions said they had chosen an alternative to drinking and driving because of the sessions, and another 61 percent said they had considered the alternatives after a drinking party.

Equalization is irresponsible

EDITOR—I have written the following letter to George E. McEachern, director of Wayne County Bureau of Taxation, and I would hope it is pertinent enough to warrant publication in the local newspapers.

Dear Mr. McEachern:

Your equalization studies for 1981 with the projected residential factor to be 3.6604 came as quite a shock, to say the least. Using this figure for 1981, 2.87 for 1980, and 2.44 for 1979 results in the state equalized valuation being increased by fifty percent (50%) in two years and ninety-one percent (91%) over the past five years for residential, at the same time lowering the commercial factor from 2.87 to 2.61.

It appears the message of the November election is being totally ignored. Based on the reaction of the taxpayers to the December, 1980, tax bills, the Tisch amendment would have passed overwhelmingly had the election been held a month later.

Considering the depressed economic condition at this time it seems that to place a burden of this magnitude on the citizens is irresponsible and uncalled for. If we cannot expect our elected officials to act responsible in this time of crisis, then we may as well forget it and take what comes.

Mr. McEachran, I strongly urge that you reconsider the unrealistic residential factor of 3.6604 for the City of Belleville.

Defends state budget plans

EDITOR — Recently, you published a letter from State Representative Richard Fitzpatrick that, unfortunately, contained a good deal of misinformation and reflected a rather distressing misunderstanding of the budget process by this freshman lawmaker.

His mistakes need to be corrected.

For instance, the letter contended the Governor, in the Department of Natural Resources' budget, proposed to "punish the public by closing parks but hire more high-paid image makers to promote a resource that is no longer available." In fact, under the Governor's budget, 12 of the 21 employees of the department's information and education section will be laid off.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is inconsistent when he first accuses the Governor of not trying to eliminate the less deserving recipients from the public assistance rolls, then later complains about a proposal to hire 28 individuals to help work to get recipients off the rolls.

The letter also accuses the Governor of "laying off hundreds of personnel who care directly for mental patients while maintaining the central administrative staff in Lansing." The fact is the administrative staff in Lansing is made up of 145 individuals, including the director, his assistants and clerical help. These individuals oversee a system of more than 15,000 emloyees providing care for nearly 10,000 residents of state facilities as well as thousands of outpatients and residents of shelter homes—certainly not an unreasonable proportion.

The fact is the Governor has been devoting a good deal of time and attention to making some very difficult decisions to bring state spending down to a level which equals the reduced state revenues. And he has been attempting to do the job as equitably as possible.

Anyone who would suggest otherwise and use such blatantly false assertions to support that suggestion either doesn't understand the budget process or wants to purposely mislead the public.

Laws can't stop murder

EDITOR — While contemplating the sad death of musician John Lennon, Americans should realize that no "gun control" law, no amount of restrictive firearms legislation, could have prevented this tragic act.

Gun laws simply cannot stop someone who is intent upon committing murder. The suspect charged with Mr. Lennon's murder purchased the murder weapon in Hawaii, a state which requires that all firearms and ammunition be registered with local and state authorities. The crime took place in New York City which has perhaps the most stringent gun laws in the country. New York not only requires registration and permits for handguns, but also requires the licensing of firearms owners. These restrictive gun laws did not stop Mr. Lennon's murder. Additional gun laws would not have stopped it, either.

The act, for whatever reason it was committed, was premeditated. Once he is bent upon such a crime, a person cannot be thwarted by an existing gun law, nor by the passage of any additional legislation. Murder is already against the law.

There will be those who call for more "gun control" laws. Such laws, however, only restrict the law-abiding citizens's use of firearms and will not affect the criminal or reduce crime. Such laws merely open the door for civil rights violations which have occurred many times under the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968. These violations have already resulted in 63 United States Senators calling for reform of that gun law.

To stop crime, laws must be directed at the violent criminal. The National Rifle Association has long been in favor of prompt and adequate punishment for anyone convicted of a crime of violence. Take the criminal off the streets. Force the criminal justice system to be as severe as necessary to compel the criminal to realize that he will suffer the consequences of his actions. This is the way to stop such deplorable tragedies.

Appointment overlaps

EDITOR — I read with interest Wayne County Commissioner R. William Joyner's comment on Wayne County Commissioners taking appointments to paying jobs prior to finishing the term of office the Commissioner was elected to.

Commissioner Joyner received his appointment to office because of one of these transactions. The ones who picked him to fill the vacancy have always encouraged this type of progressive government. It seems the majority of Wayne County Commissioners and school board members receive their start in the political arena by appointment.

Thanks for help on art show

EDITOR: Hundreds of people enjoy Van Buren's Parks & Recreation Christmas Arts and Crafts Show recently held at Van Buren Township Hall.

Over 40 exhibits filled the Township Hall with displays that made each passerby want to stop and take a look.

The success of this Arts & Crafts Show warrants a second show, which will be held at Van Buren Park the summer of 1981 for art only. Details are still being worked out, but the show promises to offer some of the best talent in the State of Michigan.

For the success of the Arts & Crafts Show, I would like to thank ANP staffers Bob Ameen and Dennis Niemiec for great newspaper coverage. Also I would like to thank the Parks & Recreation staff; Betty Vincent and Judy Schroeder for their all around help; the Recreation Commission; Chester Wojie, Gary Sampson, George Brown, Marilyn Bach, Carl Marosi, Donna Clark and Marvin Wenzel.

Last, but not least, September Days Seniors for selling food and homemade baked goods.

Again, thanks to all those who made this show the success that it was.

Youth Services say thanks

EDITOR — The staff of Out Wayne County Youth Services Coalition, Inc. wishes to express our sincere appreciation and gratitude for the article which appeared in The Associated Newspapers.

The article targeted our foster parent needs and reassured our agency that the Associated Newspapers supports our ongoing programs.

It seems like a small thing to some people, but to us, it shows a willingness to open your heart and newspaper to the needs of the young people who are in our program. We can do little without this kind of media support.

On behalf of Out Wayne County Youth Services Coalition, we want to say "thank you".

Mixed emotions in act of giving

BY JOYCE HAGELTHORN

There can be mixed emotions in the act of giving.

Although the giver believes he is acting from altruistic motives, still, sometimes a little something else creeps in to destroy the purity of altruism.

It had been a beautiful Christmas season that year, so long ago when my children were very young.

The Christmas tree was groaning from its overburden of gaily wrapped packages, and the house was filled with an atmosphere of excitement and love and all the other things that homes with little ones are filled with.

For days the little ones had scrounged around under the tree, feeling and pressing and shaking each present marked with their names. And each kid had chosen one present as the absolute favorite, and each night fell asleep dreaming of what that particular package might hold.

And then came the evening just a few days before Christmas when my husband came home from his Kiwanis Club and told of a family the club had pledged to help.

The home of the family, which consisted of four children (the same as my family at that time) had burned to the ground.

Everything was destroyed. Luckily, no one had been hurt.

As he told the story, our little kids stood round-eyed and listened hard, finally gulping and blurting out the feeling that had assailed them. I felt it would be a wonderful time to teach them the true value of giving, so I suggested that they each go to the Christmas tree and pick out one present to put in the box for the children whose home had burned down.

The kids ran to the tree and began fondling the packages. Our oldest little girl, who must have been almost nine, held two packages, her favorite and one other. She jiggled them, felt them, punched them and then finally laid down the favorite.

Getting up from the floor she held out her choice to me. As I reached for it she drew back her hand and stood looking down at the favorite.

"I 'spect Baby-Jesus would want us to give our very most favorite," she said. "But maybe he would want us to keep it, since we don't really know what it is."

"That is for you to decide," I told her, but my heart ached as I watched the indecision on her little face. I could see the longing to keep the favorite, and give another lesser desired package. I could see the need in her to make sure the other little kids, who were burned out, would have a happy Christmas.

The struggle lasted several minutes while the other kids were still tumbling around among the packages trying to decide. Finally, she set her lips firmly, put the packge she was holding under the tree, and picked up her favorite.

"I'll give this," she said. Then she turned to her younger brothers and sister and instructed them to do the same.

"Do I gotta?" my littlest one asked.

"That's up to you," I answered.

"Of course, you have to," my nine year old answered with firmness. "A gift isn't any good unless it is the very best."

My littlest one thought about having a tantrum, but decided against it, much to his mother's relief. Reluctantly he picked up his very most favorite and hugged it to him.

"I sure wish I knew that Santa Claus was watching, so's he could give me the same thing when he comes," he said as he dropped the package into the box his father was preparing.

The other two children quickly picked up their favorites and dropped them into the box, and then the four little ones watched solemnly as their father picked up the box and carried it to the car.

My littlest one leaned out the door and called after his father, "Tell them if they don't like that one they can send it back to me."

My daughter dragged him back in and gave him a scolding, and then the children gathered around while we read stories and talked about those little kids who were burned out, and how it would feel to wake up and find that Christmas was good even if you had lost your home and belongings, because there were other little boys and girls who cared.

I hugged them and sent them to bed and returned to wrapping more presents with a lot of pride in my heart for my four little ones.

Christmas morning was heralded in by the snow hitting against the window and as we followed the excited moppets down the stairs I was grateful that they were safe and I thought of those other little children who, that morning, were opening up my kid's 'favorites,' and hoping they would love them as much as my children had loved them without even knowing what was inside.

The presents were distributed and the ribbons and wrappings flew every which way. As our littlest one tore into one package he hadn't seen before, he was almost delirious.

Finally the box was opened and there before his eyes was the ultimate gift ... the one he had been pleading for with Santa for the last month.

For a long moment he couldn't speak, he just stared. And then he looked up and beamed.

"Boy, I'm sure glad this wasn't under the tree the other day," he shouted. "I wouldn't never want to give this to nobody, not even if they was all burned up."

And hugging it to him he glowed with Christmas joy the rest of the day.

Ask Carol Premo

Act of honesty

By CAROL PREMO, PhD.

DEAR CAROL,

While shopping today the clerk gave me too much money back (ten dollars).

I did not realize it until I got home. Should I go back to the store and try to find the right clerk. I think I read somewhere that clerks have to pay their errors. Someone else said that I will only get them in trouble.

What do you think I should do?

Shopper

DEAR SHOPPER,

Of course go back. To not go is the same as stealing. Besides you'll probably make her happy because most clerks have to make up deficit out of their own pockets.

DEAR CAROL,

Should Santa Claus be presented as a loveable fellow? Or, should I tell my 3-year-old the truth!

It is complicated for the child to hear that if he is good, Santa will bring him "x" number of gifts. Then, here I stand, with a limited budget, not the generous Santa of song and story.

Please answer soon.

Mother

DEAR MOTHER,

I do not feel that a lie told to a child is ever appropriate. The story of Santa can be told and enjoyed as a fun fable but not as a truth.

The child is bound to feel somewhat betrayed when he discovers the truth and his sense of trust is one of the most important things a child can develop, lying about Santa is certainly not worth the risk, when it can hurt that trust.

The approach of truth should certainly help out your budget as well. Kids should not have the unrealistic idea that they can have whatever they ask for, anyway.

DEAR CAROL,

My husband and I are having an argument about Christmas. I know that sounds like a contradiction in terms — fighting and the holiday of peace.

The problem is our families. My family has always gotten together Christmas Eve. His family has always gotten together Christmas Day. Sounds like there should be no problem, right? Wrong!

He feels attending my family's Christmas Eve to be impossible. He says that my family has not really accepted him, that is, shown any overt acceptance of him.

On the other hand he says his family has gone out of their way to make me feel I was accepted. That is true, he has a warm family, mine could be called quite reserved, cold even. They are, however, my family and I do care about them.

I feel very torn — I love my husband and want to be with him but I also love my family and have not missed a Christmas Eve in 27 years. It is a tradition!

What can I do, if anything to resolve this? Am I being selfish? Is he being reasonable? Please help.

Merry Christmas?

DEAR MERRY CHRISTMAS,

I can understand your husband's reluctance to share the intimacies of Christmas Eve with your family if he does not feel accepted by them.

However, his love for you is far more important than the setting. You might try focusing just on your love for each other and the significance of sharing and not on the other problems involved.

Another solution would be to have a very special time for just the two of you first. (I am assuming you do not have children as you do not mention them). Arrange for a Christmas time, not necessarily either Christmas Eve or day, that is a special time for you, no other family or friends.

Then when you begin visiting all of the families, your sense of security with each other will be foremost and any other reservations he might have had will be minimized by your sharing.

Family planning programs

By MAURICE B. REIZEN, M.D.
Department of Public Health

You can't believe all the nursery rhymes. Take the old woman who lived in a shoe. She had so many children that the storybook illustration shows them brimming, bulging, climbing, clinging, dangling, and falling from that old shoe. There were so many children, because she didn't know what to do.

That might have bordered on the truth a little over a generation ago, but today most families are quite different. Today's woman of childbearing age has few (if any) children, because she knows what to do.

Today's women accepts family planning as a fact of life. It enables her to have or not to have children; and the children she does have are wanted, not unwanted, children. Family planning allows her to space her children and to plan her family size.

Family planning programs across the state serve women from all walks of life. In the past year about 50 percent of the clients were 19 years of age or younger. The other women already have children and prefer to postpone pregnancy — at least for now.

Most of the family planning clients prefer to postpone parenthood. They wish to work and earn, to start careers, to enjoy freedom from the responsbilities of children, to continue their educaton. Many women of today just don't want children right now. When they do decide to have children, they make the decision after much consideration and planning. They are finally ready to have an intended pregnancy.

The family planning programs across the state help these young men and women pursue their goals. They provide counseling, education, laboratory tests such as pap smear, physican examinations and orientation to various kinds of contraceptive methods. The physician and patient determine the best method of contraception, and a nurse gives further information. The program also provides pregnancy testing, sickle cell testing when indicated, and gives referrals for other services, such as infertility testing.

We've come a long way from that old woman in the shoe. While we still enjoy hearing our children laugh at the antics of the children who lived in the shoe, the present-day mother knows best. She plans her life for wanted children when she's ready for them. That's not a nursery rhyme: that's the truth.

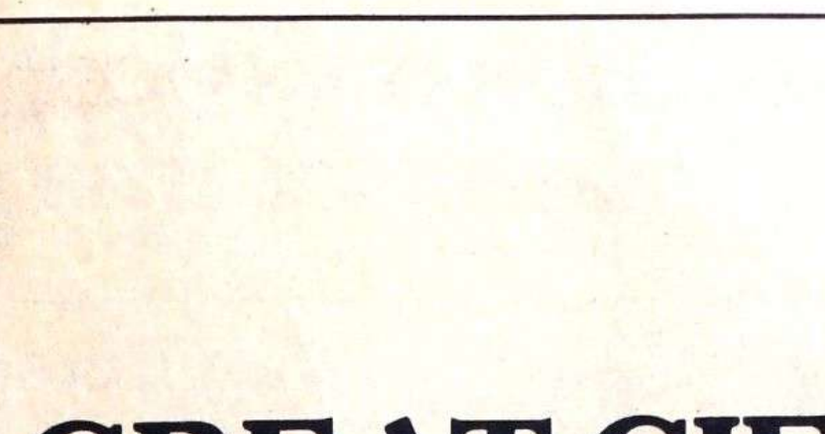
YOU GET GREAT GIFTS AND HIGH INTEREST AT STANDARD FEDERAL SAVINGS

New! Checking Accounts with Interest



Until now, you've never had interest paid on your checking account. But on January 1, 1981, you'll have the chance to take advantage of a brand new service from Standard Federal Savings — checking accounts with interest. In addition to providing savings accounts which pay the highest rate available on insured savings, Standard Federal also offers the opportunity to earn the highest interest allowed on your checking account.

These accounts will earn 5¼% annual interest — continuously compounded — adding interest every month to your account for an effective annual yield of 5.467%. This is the highest interest allowed on checking accounts.

You may open an account in any amount. However, with a minimum balance of $500.00 OR an average daily balance of $1,000.00, you may write all the checks you wish, with no monthly service charge. (A $5.00 monthly fee is assessed if you go below the minimum or average requirements).

- Each month you'll receive a detailed statement of your account which lists your checks in numerical order, your deposits, any service charges assessed and the interest earned during the statement period.
- Personalized checks are printed free of charge if you choose not to have your checks returned with your monthly statement. There will be a charge for printing personalized checks if you wish to have your checks returned to you. With either option, you may select a style that provides a carbon copy of each check for your records.
- A permanent record of each check will be kept by Standard Federal Savings. If you need a copy for any reason, microfilm copies of as many as 25 checks per year (or all checks relating to an IRS audit) will be provided at no charge.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS 62 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER:
Customers 62 years of age and older who have direct deposit of social security or other retirement checks into any Standard Federal Savings account will pay no monthly service charge on their checking accounts.

RIGHT NOW — with a deposit of $1,000.00 or more, receive a gift FREE or at big savings just for opening or adding to any savings account, including an account that can be automatically converted to a checking account on January 1, 1981.

26-Week Money Market Certificate*
Minimum Balance $10,000.00
The interest rate is determined weekly and has three options for payment of interest; interest can be paid at maturity, or paid on the last day of each month and automatically transferred to a 5½% regular savings account, or paid by check every month. Call (313) 643-9583 for the current rate.

2½-Year Money Market Certificate*
Minimum Balance $100.00
The interest rate is determined bi-weekly and compounded continuously giving the highest return available on these accounts. Call (313) 643-6855 for the current rates.

Non-negotiable Savings Certificate*
Minimum Balance $100,000.00
Terms range from 14 days to 5 years with interest rates quoted by Standard Federal Savings on a daily basis. Call (313) 643-9562 for current rates.

Retirement Savings Accounts*
IRA is a personal, tax-sheltered retirement savings program. It is available for any working person who is not currently participating in a private or government retirement plan. The Keogh Plan, a tax-sheltered retirement plan for self-employed individuals, is also available.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts and also prohibit the compounding of interest on 26-week money market certificates.
The rate established at the time these accounts are opened is the rate in effect for the full term of the certificate.

Do Si Do: Van Buren square dance callers will help ring in the New Year

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Looking for a good time on New Year's Eve? Want to try something just a little different to bring in 1981?

Jack and Kathy LaPan believe a night of square dancing is the best way to have a little fun. Actually, a lotta fun if one listens to the LaPans describe their favorite pastime.

"We started dancing back in 1960," recalled Jack LaPan, a square dance caller for the past three years. "My wife and I saw Pete Noll square dancing on television and we decided to take a class and learn how. It looked like fun."

They've been square dancing ever since. Today, their square dancing club--the Teddy Bear Squares--has some 85 members, most from the Belleville area. The group meets the second and fourth Saturdays each month in the Van Buren Township Hall.

The township hall, located at 46425 Tyler, Belleville, will be the site for the New Year's Eve square dance party, sponsored by the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department. A pot luck affair, the party will feature various kinds of dances--square, round, waltz, polka and fox trot.

LaPan and Jack King will serve as square dance callers while Mrs. LaPan will call the round dance numbers. Last year's party attracted a full house, according to Mark Rairick, township recreation director.

"All kinds of dancers, from beginners to club level are welcome," Mrs. LaPan declared. "It can take 40 weeks of lessons to become a club level square dancer but you can learn a few basic steps in a short time."

"Our club is not a professional group," she added. "The main goal is for everyone to enjoy themselves."

However, the LaPans do take square dancing very seriously. Both are members of the Michigan Square Dance Callers Association and keep busy running classes in square dancing for the Van Buren Recreation Department.

"We work as a team," explained LaPan, who owns a service station in Belleville. "Sometimes we practice singing calls in our basement."

"Square dancing is an international activity. The Western style of square dancing remains the same from coast to coast. In fact, the National Convention for square dancers will be held in Detroit in 1982."

The LaPan callers are important to the success of the party since they're the only live entertainment (the music is piped in on record players). So what makes a good caller?

"Well, you don't have to be a good singer to be a good caller," explained LaPan. "But you must have a clear voice, stay with the beat at all times and have fun while doing it. And a caller should know how to dance before trying to be a caller.

"I've been doing it for three years now and people say they like me."

"We practice at every opportunity we get," Mrs. LaPan pitched in. "It takes almost all our spare time."

Mrs. LaPan will concentrate on directing dancers in the waltz, two-step and polkas this New Year's Eve. Together with her husband, the action will be continuous on the dance floor (party time is 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.).

Sure to be included in the expected capacity crowd will be many members of the Teddy Bear Squares, named after the LaPan theme song, "Teddy Bear."

Tickets, priced at $9 per couple, can be purchased in advance by calling 485-0918, 699-9946 or the Van Buren recreation offices at 699-2001. Couples are asked to bring a dish to pass at the affair.

And be prepared to hit the dance floor. If square dancing seems like a good way to bring in 1981, the LaPan dance callers will show you a good time.

They've been square dancing for 20 years and haven't lost a bit of their enthusiasm.

Jack and Kathy LaPan (left) will handle the square and round dance calling during Van Buren's pot luck New Year's Eve party. Among the dancers will be members of the Teddy Bear Squares (above), a local square dancing group. Photos by Homer Cothern.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

Check mud flats for bluegills

(LAST IN A SERIES)

BLUEGILLS—You'll find these fish in the same areas during winter as in the summer—over weedy mud flats and at inlets and outlets. Early in the ice season, fish near bottom in 10 to 20 feet of water, generally in the late afternoon. Jig your lines about once a minute and, every few minutes raise your rod some four feet and let the bait settle again.

If nothing happens in a half hour, make another hole 10 feet or more from where you've been fishing. After a month of ice and snow cover, bluegills may start swimming higher off bottom and they become increasingly sensitive about biting. Your success then may depend on locating the fish at higher depths and going to smaller lures and lighter monofilament line.

A good combination for bluegills is a small ice fly, a teardrop jig or small flasher blade with a grub or wiggler on it. The grubs sold at bait stores are mousies, wax worms and corn borers—they are all good. Since winter bluegill lures are weighted, no sinkers are advisable.

PERCH—Look for these fish in the same haunts favored by bluegills. Halfway through the winter in deep lakes, they are found in the deeper pockets during mid-day and toward shoals in early morning and evening. Most often, perch will hold six inches to two feet off the bottom.

If the barometer is dropping, go all the way down with your bait. Sometimes you have to move it a few feet off the bottom to get action.

Probably the best hookups for perch are Russian spoons baited with perch eyes or minnows, a plain hook baited with a wiggler, or one of the many ice spoons on the market that are normally used for bluegills. Put a grub on the hook portion.

It is common in the Great Lakes to use a two-dropper hook setup with a heavy bell sinker on the terminal end. Perch swim in schools so you should catch them fast when they're with you as they may soon move on.

WALLEYES—Here again, jiggling is very effective, with six- to eight-pound test line. Russian spoons, Swedish Pimples and Rapala jigs baited with a dead minnow are examples of proven jigging combinations for walleyes. It's good practice to let your baited spoon hit the lake bottom to disturb the sand or mud to get the attention of the fish. Another way of attracting walleyes is to "chum" the fishing hole with wigglers.

If you use tip-ups, set them over reefs and the edges of shoals where the water is 15 to 30 feet deep. For bait, use a two- to three-inch live shiner minnow and hook it just behind the dorsal fin so it will be free to swim. Dusk hours or cloudy days are usually best.

LAKE TROUT—Do your fishing in the deeper parts of lakes and be sure you have enough line. No less than 100 yards is suggested because they may run out that much before they are actually hooked. Four- to six-pound test line will do the job, and hooks should be in the No. 6 to No. 10 range.

Since monofilament of long length has a tendency to twist, many experts tie in a small swivel every 50 feet or so.

Place a very small split shot two feet above the hook and set your bait—a two- to four-inch shiner or smelt—just off the bottom.

PIKE AND MUSKIES—Favorite winter haunts of these fish are along drop-offs in and near weedbeds and brush shelters in water three to 12 feet deep. Pike baits—large shiners, four- to five-inch suckers, smelt or herring— normally get best results one to four feet above the bottom. During March, it sometimes pays to offer one bait at this depth and another one about four feet under the ice.

When pike grab the bait, they usually make a run, rest, then run again. As soon as they start the second run, set the hook hard.

When spear fishing, seek out an area where the water is about eight feet deep. Since a good deal of sharp-shooting for these fish is done in murky water, it's a good idea to drop tinfoil or egg shells into your spearing hole. These objects will settle on the bottom and provide a light

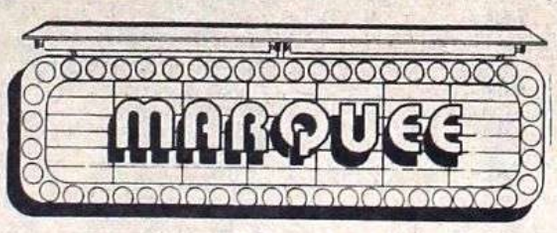
'Flash' is science farce

By STEVE K. WALZ
Special to Playtime



'Flash Gordon' from Universal Pictures. Produced by Dino De Laurentiis. Directed by Mike Hodges. Starring Sam Jones, Melody Anderson and Max Von Sydow. Rated 'PG.'

Dino De Laurentis' track record has not been good as of late, having forced his banana of a remake, "King Kong," upon movie going audiences all over the world. And when it was announced that he would spend lots of bucks on developing the "Flash Gordon" comic strip hero with a total unknown in the lead role (Sam Jones), the snickers were heard from coast to coast.

Well, "Flash" is here, and to my surprise Dino has come up with a marvelous piece of science - farce, borrowing from many other successful sci-fi screen epics without blatantly ripping them off.

Gordon is a star quarterback for the New York Jets who boards an airplane with pretty travel agent Dale Arden (Melody Anderson). As the aircraft hits some mysterious turbulence, the two find "true love."

After Flash and Dale crash land in the heart of Dr. Zarkov's (Topol) space pad, the zany doctor forces them aboard his ship claiming that he has a date with destiny. Actually, Zarkov is hellbent on stopping the alien terrorist, Ming, from destroying the Earth.

Flash, the cavalier that he is, also wants a piece of Ming when he discovers that the alien also wants Dale. Alas, Flash is sentenced to die.

Ah, but Ming's Mata Hari-like daughter Aura (Ornella Muti), has other plans for the handsome Earthling.

Once revived by Aura, Flash sets out to form an alliance with Prince Barin (Tim Balton) and Prince Vultan (Brian Blessed) to smash Ming and his cohorts. What ensues is a titantic, visually stimulating battle resplendent with outrageous special effects and settings helped along by the music of Britain's premier rock group Queen, who sing the title track.

The acting ranges from fair to excellent. Sam Jones is obviously a novice actor, but his role does not require a great deal of depth. Melody Anderson, a newcomer to the movie biz, does a nice job of portraying Dale Arden, a character who has a touch of Judy Benjamin ("Private Benjamin") in her.

Italian screen siren Ornella Muti makes a smashing American motion picture debut. She is not only beautiful, but extremely talented as well. Max Von Sydow is positively nefarious as Ming, while his arch-enemy, Topol, delivers a hilarious performance.

All in all, "Flash Gordon" is one of the few films where one can take the whole family and have a darn good time. You see, sci-fi doesn't always have to deliver a "message" in order to be successful.

'Caesar and Cleopatra' coming to Hilberry

"Caesar and Cleopatra," George Bernard Shaw's look at the relationship between the worldly Roman conqueror and the naive Egyptian queen, will open January 14 at the Hilberry Theatre, following previews on January 9 and 10. Maria Tiribassi and Richard Bradshaw portray Cleopatra and Caesar in the comedy, which runs through March 7 at the Hilberry on Cass and Hancock. For reservations, call the Wayne State University Theatre box office (577-2972).

DRAMA

"Caesar and Cleopatra," George Bernard Shaw's wry treatment of the relationship between the worldy Roman conqueror and the naive Egyptian queen, officially opens at the Hilberry Theatre on January 14 at 8:30 p.m., following previews on January 9 and 10.

In "Caesar and Cleopatra," Shaw presents Julius Caesar as an aging soldier whose amiable caginess and wit have brought him to the peak of his powers as emperor of the Roman world. As he invades Egypt to secure his leadership, he encounters Cleopatra, childish heir to the throne of Egypt. Caesar takes her under his wing and teaches her how to be Queen amongst the traitorous courtiers of the Alexandrian court, showing her both the power and responsibility of leadership.

Critic Brooks Atkinson wrote of this play: "What a wonderful comedy 'Caesar and Cleopatra' is! Taking a few pages out of history, Shaw wrote about Caesar and Cleopatra as if they were mortal people.

Richard Bradshaw as Caesar and Maria Angela Tirabassi as Cleopatra lead the Hilberry cast. Andrew Barnicle portrays Rufio, Caesar's loyal lieutenant and Terri Turner Phillips appears as Ftatateeta, Cleopatra's mysterious nurse. Others in leading roles include Louis Schaefer, Peter Thomson and Mark Tymchyshyn.

"Caesar and Cleopatra" is directed by Margaret Spear, with scenic design by Jeffrey R. Thomson, costumes by Helen Markovitch and lighting by Gary M. Witt.

"Caesar and Cleopatra" runs in repertory through March 7 at the Hilberry on Cass and Hancock. Tickets are available at the Wayne State University Theatre box office, Cass and Hancock (577-2972) and most Detroit-area colleges and universities.

'Tribute'-- contrived melodrama with forced acting

A 20th Century Fox release. Directed by Bob Clark, written by Bernard Slade. Starring Jack Lemmon, Robby Benson, Lee Remick. Rated 'R.'

By J. T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

Jack Lemmon plays Scottie Templeton, a man who could always find the time to tell a joke or do a pratfall to make someone crack a smile.

Now he finds out that he is dying of cancer and that's about the cruelest practical joke that life can play on anyone. His constant joking has taken its toll on his personal life, however, as he is divorced from his wife (Lee Remick) and somewhat estranged from his son (Robby Benson).

In a nutshell, that's about the whole story of "Tribute." Lemmon portrays a man who gives and loves everyone so much so that his family feels cheated.

For example, Lemmon arranges a surprise party for a call girl by stealing her contact book and inviting her clients to a luncheon in her behalf (as if she were a retiring head of state). It is a preposterous situation; no call girl ever had such a heart of gold. So is no wonder his son is upset. Lemmon lavishes as much praise upon the hooker as he does his own son.

Somewhat it is written that with an in pending death there must be some sort of family reconciliation, and so much of the film is spent in trying to bring father and son to an understanding at the very least. As the son, Benson feels he has been just another member of the audience around his father—another straight man for his father's incessant humor.

Lemmon feels he never did anything wrong with the child—they were always laughing—but even now doesn't stop making jokes long enough to listen to his son's problems and feelings.

Whenever a playwright adapts his own work to the screen, there is always the inherent problem of carrying over to the screen much of that carefully created dialogue used in the play.

Stated simply, the film doesn't need it. This film has far too many excesses, not only in words, but in the scenes of pathos as well. The final resolution is stated about three times, and the ultimate final tribute to Lemmon by his friends is just plain 'stagey' in its most contrived sense of melodrama.

Jack Lemmon is a fine actor and general all-round nice guy, and Bernard Slade has always claimed that he wrote this part only with Lemmon in mind.

Yet Lemmon's performance, although remarkable, is almost too much of good thing. Watching it, one is always conscious of watching a piece of acting. The role is certain to garner him much praise and some will call it a tour de force, yet it is not so much a forceful performance as one that is simply forced.

Jack Lemmon and Robby Benson try to work out their problems in a contrived, melodramatic film, "Tribute."

it... twinkles at twilight.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

Angel City features several talented songwriters

ANGEL CITY
"Darkroom"
(Epic)

Angel City, like AC/DC, are from the land "down under," namely Australia. Like that bank, Angel City also plays loud, raucous rock'n'roll. But the similarities end there.

Pop sensibility plays a very important part in their music, as opposed to the mindless boogie of AC/DC and their ilk.

Angel City also writes top-notch songs that are guaranteed to hook you in--neither "Darkroom" or it's predecessor, "Face To Face," contain a single song that would qualify as filler material. Credit this to the unusual: four of the five members are extraordinary songwriters, so the band has plenty of material to choose from.

Perhaps their biggest asset though, is the presence of Doc Neeson. As anyone who's been fortunate enough to catch Angel City in concert will testify, Neeson is an electrifying frontman: always moving, always acting out the lyrics, even climbing up to the top of the amps and then bounding recklessly down isn't unusual for him (as he did last year at Center Stage).

Since their first American album was an amalgamation of a few Aussie releases, it's evident that the band already has a breadth of recording experience, but with the self-produced "Darkroom" they've reached a peak of sorts.

Neeson's voice is at once menacing, threatening, and embracing, and it's mixed high for full effect. The twin guitar attack of the brothers Brewster, John and Rick, is the musical focal point of the band, and behind them work the flawless rhythm section of bassist Chris Bailey and drummer Buzz Bidstrup.

Together, Angel City form one of the most powerful, yet passionate, rock bands around, and are certainly a group not to be passed up.

On "Night Comes Early" Doc Neeson sings "Try to find an empty seat at the front—To take a chance on the loaded dice." It's a fine bet indeed, especially if you put your money on Angel City.

Variety of winter activities scheduled at Houghton Lake

The 31st annual Tip-Up-Town, U.S.A. held at Houghton Lake is scheduled for two consecutive weekends beginning January 17-18 and January 24-25. During both of these weekends a wide variety of creative exhibitions, demonstrations and challenging games will be offered to the public with everyone invited to participate.

Tip-Up-Town is rated as the seventh largest winter carnival in the nation and crowd attendance is proof of its popularity. Despite snow and cold thousands of outdoor recreation enthusiasts flock in for the fun and warm hospitality.

Ice fishing is the top activity. Anglers will compete for awards based on set categories. Northern pike, walleye, bluegill and perch are among those gamefish taken.

For the ski enthusiasts there will be cross country ski trails with instructors and guides standing by to give assistance. Cross country skiers can also register for a short but vigorous race.

Snowmobilers will delight in taking part in the Grand Torchlight Parade held during the first weekend. Daytime snofaries will take place both weekends. Snowmobile races will come in two forms. One is on a traditional course, the other being a poker run.

The Grand Parade takes place on January 17. Dozens of floats, marching groups, humorous clowns, Tip-Up-Town queen candidates and the parade marshall will be featured. The parade ends at the entrance of Tip-Up-Town where ice sculptures will be found.

At the main Tip-Up-Town site clown competition, glider and skydiving exhibitions and a beard contest will be part of the fun. Visitors young and old can take pony drawn sleigh rides or float above the festive grounds in a hot air balloon.

A riddle posing brass medallion hunt worth $300 will be given to the one who pieces the hidden puzzle together. The medallion will be hid somewhere on the festival grounds and clues to where it lies will be given periodically starting January 10.

A social hour and sportswriter banquet is to be held on the night of the 17th honoring those who have given their time to the success of the Tip-Up-Town celebration. A panel of judges will officially crown the 1981 Tip-Up-Town Queen.

Nondenominational church services are to be held both weekends. Each service will take place at the lake site of Tip-Up-Town.

For further information please contact: Houghton Lake Chamber of Commerce, 1614 W. Houghton Lake Dr., Route No. 2, Box CC, Houghton Lake, 48629, Phone — 517-366-5644.

Fishing tips for winter

background which will make it easier to see the fish.

Then run your bait or decoy down at least three feet under the ice or farther, depending upon water clarity. Live, one-pound suckers, six- to eight-inch perch, and large golden shiners seem to attract pike and muskies most consistently. Red-and-white decoys are also good fish teasers. Some spearing enthusiasts use a large pearl button for this and have more luck than with the conventional fish-shaped decoy.

Stevenson slips past Salem to win cage title

Rocks' streak ends at holiday tourney

Playing "cat-and-mouse" can be precarious especially if you're playing the role of the mouse as Plymouth Salem learned Tuesday night.

Salem was forced to go after the ball when Livonia Stevenson stalled in the last period in hopes of making up a seven-point deficit and came within one point in the final second.

But Coach Fred Thomann and his Rocks fell short and handed over the Livonia Churchill Holiday Basketball Tournament title to the Spartans after losing their first game of the year, 45-44.

"I feel playing four games in the last eight days took its toll physically on our personnel," said Coach Thomann whose team boasted a 5-1 record in December and will pick up the pieces Jan. 6 at home against Ypsilanti. "You have to be pleased with a team that refuses to quit — and our kids kept in there right to the end."

With less than five minutes left Stevenson appeared to have the game sewed up when the Spartans opened up a seven-point lead. But John Cohen rallied the Rocks as he made two from the field and sank a pair of free throws — all in that last period to rally his teammates back.

With the Spartans leading by one, Salem had a shot of going ahead when Dave Miller was fouled and awarded a one-and-one, but his first shot missed and the Spartans grabbed the rebound and Rocks waged a battle for the rebound. The Rocks got it and threw the ball up, but it failed to make its mark.

Salem worked its way into the lead at the end of the first period, 13-11, but Coach George VanWagner's Spartans outscored their rivals 14-10

Up for Grabs

Plymouth Salem's 6-8 Paul Horton (20) and teammate Scott Bublin (30) battle an unidentified Livonia Stevenson player for this rebound during Tuesday's tournament finals at Livonia Churchill. After surviving a three overtime affair on Monday with arch-rival, Plymouth Canton, Coach Fred Thomann's Rocks were edged 45-44 by the Stevenson Spartans who also cut the Rock win streak at four games.

About an All American local gridder

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

This area has produced its share of nationally known athletes. Frank Nunley, former Belleville High gridder who went on to play for the University of Michigan and later starred in the NFL as a linebacker for the San Francisco 49ers, and Johnny Long of Romulus and U of D fame who is presently leading the Detroit Pistons are among those who quickly come to mind.

Now, out of Glen Ellyn, Ill., from the College of DuPage comes the news that yet another local athlete is heading for our area Hall of Fame. The name is a familiar one - Barry Riddick who prepped at Belleville High, unfortunately during the drought years when the Tigers lost more than they won.

Riddick was named this week to the second string National Junior College Athletic Association's All-American football squad.

Although many will be eager to berate the junior colleges and there may be some polite laughter about the comparison of junior college and major college athletics, when an athlete earns all-American accolades, in any sport, he or she has to be good.

An athlete who can rush for 1,502 yards and score 16 touchdowns in 264 carries can make it on just about any team. And that's what Riddick did in leading DuPage to its conference championship.

The 5-11, 187-pound freshman tailback scored 96 points, six more than his next closest rival, while his 1,502 rushing total was bested only by Walter Ross of Anoka-Ramsey Community College of Minnesota who gained 1,612 yards in 275 carries.

Riddick also placed eighth in the nation in total offense with 1,543 yards.

DuPage Coach Bob MacDougall said of the ex-Belleville High gridder "that Barry is one of if not the finest running backs and athlete I have ever coached."

Riddick was the fifth DuPage gridder to earn All-American honors in the past three years, and only the second from this area in the past 15 years.

"What football player do you know who can give you a 5.7 yard average per carry?" Coach MacDougall rhetorically asked. "That's what Barry Riddick did for this team and, believe me, we're very happy that he chose to come here to Glen Ellyn."

Happy New Year!

McBride's 3rd OT basket nips Canton

It took all of three overtimes by a determined Plymouth Salem to avenge its district playoff defeat at the hands of neighboring rival, Plymouth Canton. The Rocks' revenge came Monday at the annual Livonia Churchill Holiday Basketball Tournament.

Salem and Canton clashed in the first round and, after a defensive duel that kept the fans on both sides of the gym sitting on the edge of their seats, Coach Fred Thomann's Rocks managed to win the barn-burner, 57-56.

It was Mike McBride's 20-foot jump shot that found its mark with less than six seconds left in the third overtime that settled the issue. McBride, who had seven points up to that decisive basket, earned all-tournament recognition for his outstanding defensive performance.

Canton had the lead with 15 seconds left when high-scoring Sean Houle sank the first end of a one-and-one, but Salem got the ball on the next play to McBride who came through with the spectacular shot.

"It was a fun game to watch and fun game to be involved in but it was obviously a game we would have liked to have won," said Canton Coach, Craig Bell. "We, as did Salem, had numerous opportunities to win before the overtime and didn't cash in on those chances.

"However, we proved that we can play with Salem," Bell continued. "The mystique is over. In the past our teams over here felt that we couldn't play with Salem. I think that era is over."

Houle teamed with Steve Tuttle to provide the Chiefs with more than half of their points. Sean made 13 field goals and one of three at the foul line for 27 points, while Tuttle tossed in six from the field and made

LAURA KUHR

Laura Kuhr earns state swim honors

Laura Kuhr, considered one of the finest high school swimmers in the area, picked up a sixth and 11th medal at the recently staged state swimming and diving championships held at Michigan State University.

Miss Kuhr, a junior at Belleville High, turned in a 24.88 to finish sixth in the 50-yard freestyle. She came back in the 100-yard backstroke and placed 11th for her second state medal.

Plungis named to MAC All-Academic squad

Eastern Michigan senior football player Mike Plungis was recently named to the 1980 Mid-American Conference All-Academic team.

Plungis, a 6-foot-3, 242-pound senior defensive tackle, was named to the All-MAC academic team along with teammate Manny Rodriguez.

A native of Wayne Memorial High School, Plungis was also the 1980 recipient of the Harold E. Sponberg Award given annually to the EMU down lineman with the best academic record. Plungis posted a 3.36 grade point average in Accounting.

Plungis started all 10 EMU football games in 1980 and recorded 57 tackles.

Belleville wins 2nd major mat tourney

Belleville continued to play the role of the No. 1 wrestling power in the area this year as Coach Gerald Malecek's grapplers captured their second major tournament of the season - the Ott "Hall of Fame" Classic hosted by Wayne Memorial.

Earlier in the season Belleville claimed its own tournament title.

At Wayne, the Tigers picked up 195 points by virtue of 15 place-winners. The tournament champs also had four gold-medalists in Steve Cook (heavy-weight), Darin Harris (98), Lonie Renfroe (145) and Lyn Kinsey.

"The kids are showing a lot of aggressiveness out on the mats," Coach Malecek said. "And, as I have previously said, this team has a lot of experience and when you have experience and aggressiveness to go with it, it's a winning combination."

Belleville piled up 16½ points more than its Suburban 8 Conference rival, Trenton, which finished second with 178½. The two leaders were followed by Montrose Hill-McCloy (171), Plymouth Salem (75), Wayne Memorial (51½), Redford Thurston (44), North

Belleville's Riddick is All-American

The above photo appears to exemplify the kind of season ex-Belleville High grid star Barry Riddick, (35) had this year at the College of DuPage, in Glen Ellyn, Ill. Riddick seemed to have a knack for alluding his would-be tacklers and wound up with 1,502 yards rushing, 16 TDs for his 264 carries. For his sterling performance, Riddick was named to the National Junior College Association's All-American squad, only the second gridder in Belleville and probably only the second in the area to receive such accolades in recent history.

At Cherry Hill, St. Andrew's

Cagers continue their quest for holiday tourney titles

With Christmas and the Livonia Churchill Holiday Basketball Tournament out of the way, five area high school basketball teams will begin their quest for tournament titles Monday night.

At Churchill, Livonia Stevenson handed Plymouth Salem its first setback of the season to capture the holiday championship by a narrow 44-43 margin. (See related story on this page).

In the meantime, Cherry Hill will defend its Western Wayne Holiday Tournament title Monday night when teams from Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial and Garden City West assemble at that Inkster-based high school's gym.

West's Tigers are making their inaugural appearance at the WW tournament replacing Belleville High which chose to drop out of the competition. The Tigers will take on an improving Wayne Memorial in the first round at 6 p.m.

In Monday's nightcap, John Glenn clashes with host, Cherry Hill, at 8 p.m. Glenn jolted North Farmington in its last outing to even up its Northwest Suburban Conference record to 1-1 (3-1 over-all) and Coach Dan Henry's Rockets should provide the Spartans, who have won the last three versions of the tournament title, a run for their money.

The championship at Cherry Hill will be decided on Tuesday at 8 p.m. There will be a consolation game at 6 p.m. between the first round losers.

Inkster, which saw its three-game winning streak come to an end at the hands of a strong St. Mary's of Redford quintet, 81-71, will travel to Detroit St. Andrews Monday to play for the holiday tournament title that will also bring together Servite and St. Martin DePorres.

In the opening round, DePorres and Servite will tangle at 6 p.m., while the nightcap features Coach Spencer Grant's Vikings and the host team, St. Andrews.

The championship will be decided Tuesday night 8 p.m. There will be a 6 p.m. consolation round between the two losers.

Turnovers, a flock of them, led to the Vikings' demise against St. Mary's. The losers committed 16 crucial turnovers which aided their league rivals to bolt away by more than 10 points early in the fourth period.

"We didn't play a very good ball game," said Coach Grant. "We had too many turnovers at the wrong time, that is, when I felt the momentum was shifting in our favor. But there is always something to learn, even in defeat. Maybe now the players will understand that on any given day you can be beaten by anyone."

Defensive duel

Seeking a corridor to Livonia Stevenson's basket under heavy guard is Plymouth Salem's Norm Haygood (43) who found the going rough against the Spartans (above), while Haygood's teammate is also surrounded by Spartans in the picture at the right. Defense was the name of the game at the finals of the Livonia Churchill Holiday Basketball Tournament where Stevenson emerged with a 45-44 vistory over Coach Fred Thomann's Rocks to win the holiday title and snap Salem's winning streak at four games. Salem won a thriller from Canton in three overtimes, while Stevenson edged host, Churchill, in the first round to qualify for the finals.

in the next period and took a slim 25-23 lead at intermission. The champs increased that margin to 37-32 for three periods before the Rocks managed to cut into the lead.

Bill Keyes and Rich Sanders did most of the damage to the Rocks' defense as they scored 28 of the Spartans 45 points. Keyes made 4 of 5 from the foul line and picked up seven field goals for 18 points. Sanders chipped in 10.

None of Salem's line-up broke into the double figure scoring bracket, but the Rocks did outscore their foes 19-15 from the field. They also made 6 of 10 at the charity stripe while the Spartans canned 15 of 23.

Farmington (0), and Garden City West (0) in the final standings.

The champs also had runners-up at 112 with Dave Stewart; 138 with Norm Bates and at 167 with Terry Calhoun. Guy Woods (heavyweight), Dave Cook (119), Fred Vera (126), Kerry O'Keefe (132), Melvin Richendollar (185) and Chris Larcinese (198) won their consolation bouts and wound up with third places.

Brock Nigg (105) and Walt Young (119) chipped in four places to aid the champs.

Wayne's Jim Daniel continues to look impressive at 138. He wound up meeting Bates in the finals and eked out a close 1-0 win for the gold. Daniel's teammates Paul Justice (105) and Joe Samples (145) finished third and fourth in their weight classes, respectively. Wayne also had a fourth place finisher in Jim Spada, a 155-pounder.

Shutout from the gold, Plymouth Salem received excellent efforts from 126-pounder Bill Ward and 145-pounder Bruce Backman who were runners-up. The Rocks were fourth with Chuck Garber (112), Scott Wickens (185) and Adam Golchuck (198).

The coaches singled out Montrose's 112-pounder, Gary Silva as the tournament's Outstanding Wrestler. Silva, although a junior, has already captured the state Class B championship twice. Montrose also produced the wrestler with the most falls. John Groulx was awarded that trophy for his two pins in an elapsed time of 2:43. He's a 132 pounder.

Each wrestlers was presented with a "Certificate of Participation" signed by tournament director, Dewie Cole as a memento.

seven of eight charities for 19. The Chiefs also sank 10 of 17 at the line as each team made 23 from the field.

Salem received an outstanding effort from Scott Bublin who drilled in nine field goals for his team's high of 18, while Paul Horton came up with 11 points. The Rocks also made 11 of 16 at the line.

The loss left Coach Bell's cagers with a 4-2 over-all record as they enter the second phase of the season. They'll play Farmington, a non-league rival, on Tues., Jan. 6 for their first game of 1981. Salem also will resume action Tuesday night when it hosts an always respectable Ypsilanti quintet.

In the consolation round, Canton broke loose from Churchill in the third period to win a 52-41 decision. Ahead 20-12 at the first eight minutes, Canton wound up with a two-point lead when the Chargers rallied in the second period to close the gap 29-27.

Matt Thomas fired in eight of his 16 points in the third period and Canton outscored their host 18-6 to tuck away their fourth victory in six starts.

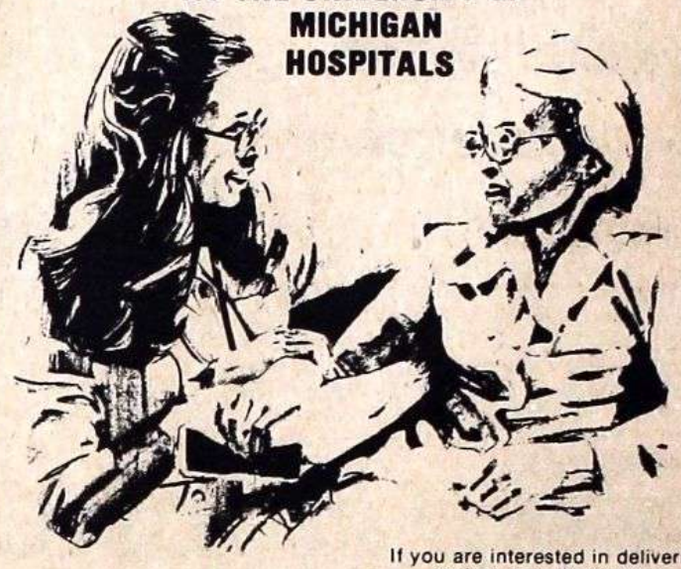
REHABILITATION AND PHYSICAL MEDICINE REQUIRES

HOLISTIC NURSING CARE

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN HOSPITALS



If you are interested in delivering patient care that is truly comprehensive, our Rehab Unit provides the opportunity. The primary nurse on 10 West continually assesses the evolving physical and emotional status of the patient in collaboration with an interdisciplinary Rehab Team of health professionals.

The goal of the Rehab Team is to assist the patient in achieving an optimal level of functioning, given an altered level of physical capacity. Every effort is made to reinforce the transition of the patient from the illness phase to the rehabilitation phase. In keeping with this philosophy, staff and patients are required to wear street clothes on the unit. Rehab Team members also strive to include the family in learning about and understanding the patient's medical care.

To find out how you might become involved in this dynamic area of nursing write, or call:

AT THIS TIME
We have beautiful homes available for you. Our current price range is from $30,000 to $99,000. Some are city homes, some country homes, some with acreage, some with lake views and/or lake access.

The one thing all our homes have in common is:
1. The current owners are anxious to sell.
2. Even though all are priced competitively, all offers will be entertained.
3. All types of financing will be considered.

Call and set an appointment to talk with one of our 'creative financing professionals' and start packing.

Wayne Memorial's players leap jubilantly into the air after punching over another touchdown in its 32-7 crushing of Westland John Glenn Saturday night. An overflow crowd of more than 5,000 fans jammed Glenn's football field to watch the annual clash between the arch-rivals. Glenn had won the last six encounters after the Zebras won the first three games since the Wayne-Westland School District's high schools began playing each other in 1971. Some of Wayne's white-clad players include end Hal Gorton (85), tackle Bruce Rize (70), (who made 15 tackles as a linebacker), halfback Rick Martin (30), fullback Ken Taube (33), guard Roy Buchanan and guard Brian Cooper. Glenn players include Dan Perkins (77), Frank Iannello (30) and Ron Shinske (72). The Zebras only loss was to Dearborn Fordson 15-0 as they posted an 8-1 record, while Glenn's Rockets finished with a 4-5 slate this year. Wayne Memorial barely missed going to the state football playoffs. ANP photo by Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Rogers sets grid record

for us — a great feeling of unity on the coaching staff," Carter said. His varsity assistants are Jim Paling, Mike Henry and Don Chastain; Junior Varsity coaches are Jim Zoltowski and his assistant, Kevin Wilson, and the trainer is Jim Bowman.

As for game statistics, Wayne had 20 first downs to Glenn's 10, and rolled up 353 yards to the Rockets' 203.

QB Discher connected on 8-of-21 for 138 yards and one TD for Glenn, who made five first downs passing and four rushing. Covault, disdaining the aerial game because of his strong rushing attack, passed only four times but connected twice for 37 yards and one touchdown.

Wayne ran 57 plays to Glenn's 47, not too much difference, but the Rockets lost three fumbles to Wayne's one. Larry Wilson, Roy Buchanan and Mark Martin recovered fumbles for the Zebras and Keith Zimmerman pounced on Wayne's only lost bobble.

Davis, Wayne's "other tailback," had another good night, rushing 49 yards in only 11 carries and would have been a standout on any other area team this year.

Rogers' three touchdowns gave him 23 for the season. He had seven last year and one as a sophomore for a total of 31 TDs in his 3-year career. He carried the ball 180 times this season for 1,352 yards and in his career, he lugged the pigskin 349 times for 2,258 yards — a new school record.

Rogers scored 193 points, another school record, which includes kicking six extra points.

Carter said it was a "team victory," but added that some played the "games of their lives." He listed on defense, such stalwarts as Bruce Rize, Roy Buchanan, (11 tackles), Darryl Hamlin, Rick Covault (8 tackles), Steve Radley and Jack Muncie, defensive end.

On offense, he named guards Brian Cooper and Buchanan, tackles Rize and Jim Nesbitt, center Mark Sanford, end Hal Gorton, split end Gary Mazurek, fullback Ken Taube for his great blocking, and slot back Larry Wilson.

Ypsi crushes Romulus

Some will tell you that first impressions mean a lot and Romulus Coach Don Foley will tell you that he was very impressed by Ypsilanti, a team that the Eagles met for the first time on the gridiron last Friday.

Foley was so impressed after his team's 34-7 loss to the Braves that he labeled Ypsi "as the best team we faced all year."

"Yes, I would have to say that Ypsi is even better than Lumen Christi (Jackson)," Foley offered. "They can do it to you in so many ways. I feel by far Ypsi is the best team we faced this season."

Ypsilanti usually ended its grid season with neighboring rival. Belleville, Belleville has dropped the Braves — and Romulus immediately picked them up on their schedule. About the schedule Foley is quick to say:

"That I feel we played a much better caliber football against much better caliber of teams this year."

Romulus ended the season with a 2-7 won lost record and Coach Foley said that, "although I'm disappointed about the record, I can't be disappointed with the way these kids tried and played. We were comparatively smaller in size than our opponents, but no one ever took us for granted."

Romulus averted the shutout in its season finale when quarterback Marty Knight guided the Eagles on an 80-yard drive late in the ballgame which featured a couple of key passes to Mark Schick and Dale Eddings.

At the Ypsi, 27, Knight handed off to John Holifield who broke loose for the touchdown. Seconds later, Knight kicked the extra point.

The Braves piled up a 22-0 halftime lead and were never seriously threatened after the half.

Wayne wins CC title

No matter how the athletic directors rule, Wayne Memorial has a slice of the Great Lakes 8m Conference cross country title.

Coach Brian Watson's Zebras assured themselves of the championship by winning the league meet that was decided by the "tie-breaking rule".

Both Wayne and Fordson had 46 points each after the top five runners were counted, however, when officials went to the sixth runner, Wayne's Keith Keiznowski finished (20th) ahead of Fordson's sixth man (23rd) to give his team first place nod.

Taylor Center was third (59), followed by Monroe (91), Wyandotte (112), Taylor Truman and Lincoln Park.

Wayne will not know if it owns all or only half of the title until later this month. In a dual meet with Monroe, the Zebras lost a decision which they protested and it will be up to the two high schools' athletic directors to determine whether there is any credence to Wayne's complaint.

Wayne had the second best runner in the league in Chris Strome who ran a 15:42 for the 3-miles. The eighth place performances from Mike Tolson (16:12), and Keith Allen (16:14), respectively.

Other Wayne scorers included Matt Hathorne, who finished 14th (16:34) and Gary Vallance, 15th (16:36).

Westland sets youth cage clinic

The Westland Parks and Recreation Department has shifted its attention to basketball. It will offer a program for youth, ages 10-to-15, beginning Dec. 1.

The program will stress fundamentals and will cover a 5-week period followed by 10-weeks of league competition. League action will begin in January.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning 722-7620.

Little Bill's is team to beat in Over 30 hockey league

While Little Bills Trophies has established itself as the team to beat in the Berrington Division, Johnson Carbonic, the Jock Shop and Futurama Engineering are battling it out for the top of the standings in the Bonkowski Division of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League.

The Brock Builders squad managed to pull off a 4-2 win over winless Etronic. The score was tied 2-2 after the first period but Brocks scored one goal in each the second and third period to take the win.

Layne Cardinal led the winners with three points by scoring one goal and assisting with two others.

Ralph Tack, Buddy Brock and John Clearwood netted single tallies to help the cause.

A Etronics' scoring came in the first period as Dave Roberts and Rick Mullen found the net.

Benny's Pizzeria was out to beat Extra Point Bar as it jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first period but Tom Stanke's goaltending stopped Benny's from scoring in the last two periods as Extra Point made its comeback for a 4-3 win.

Dan Kubany scored with 1:57 remaining in the second period while Joel Layne, Jack Bockstanz and Dave Fawkes accounted for Extra Points' third period tallies.

Dave Zajac scored twice for Benny's in the first period and assisted Dave Jones with his goal before Stanke sealed off the crease.

Zajac leads the league in scoring with six goals and five assists.

Terry Carley scored the first goal of the game for Little Bills Trophies, then added three assists to secure a 5-3 win over Tastee Freeze.

Corky Hays contributed to the win by scoring one goal and getting an assist on Jerry Bulars second period tally.

In what turned out to be the winning goal, Danny Thomas scored with 2:03 left on the clock in the second period. Just 27 seconds later Dennis Lapensee netted the last goal of the game.

Tastee Freeze got on the scoreboard twice in the first period with single tallies by Joe Soukup and Al Pulk. Murray Peterson scored the third and last goal of the game for the losers.

The Jock Shop scored four times in the last period to record a 6-5 victory over Futurama. Futurama had a 4-2 lead going into the third period but managed to score only one more time in the game.

Curtis Oger had a good game for the Jock Shop as he scored two goals and assisted with two others. Jerry Robertson also checked in with two goals. Jerry Peterson and Jack Willard rounded out the scoring for the winners.

For the second week in a row Nick Palise scored a hat trick for Futurama. In addition to the hat trick he received an assist on a goal scored by Jim Drewry. Bob Eggers scored the last goal of the game for the losers.

Johnson Carbonic finished the evening with a 4-2 win over Jake's Lounge. Dennis Broge broke the deadlock with the first goal of the game coming in the second period while John Castellanos also added a second period tally.

With 3:54 remaining in the second period, John Kunz scored the first of his two goals of the game. His second goal came late in the third period to clinch the game.

Jake's Lounge got on the scoreboard midpoint in the third period as Tom Panackia scored Jake's first point of the game. Jake Davidson netted the other goal for the losers with 1:12 remaining in the contest.

Over 30 Hockey games are played Sunday nights at the Wayne and Westland rinks. There is no admission charge.

On Sunday November 9, Tastee Freeze will run up against the Jock Shop at 6:30 p.m.; Brock Builders will take on Futurama at 8 p.m. and Extra Point Bar will play Jake's Lounge at 9:30 p.m.

All three contests will be played at the Westland rink.

At the Wayne rink, Little Bills Trophies and Johnson Carbonic will meet at 9 p.m., Benny's Pizzeria will clash with Etronic at 10:30 p.m. in the night cap.

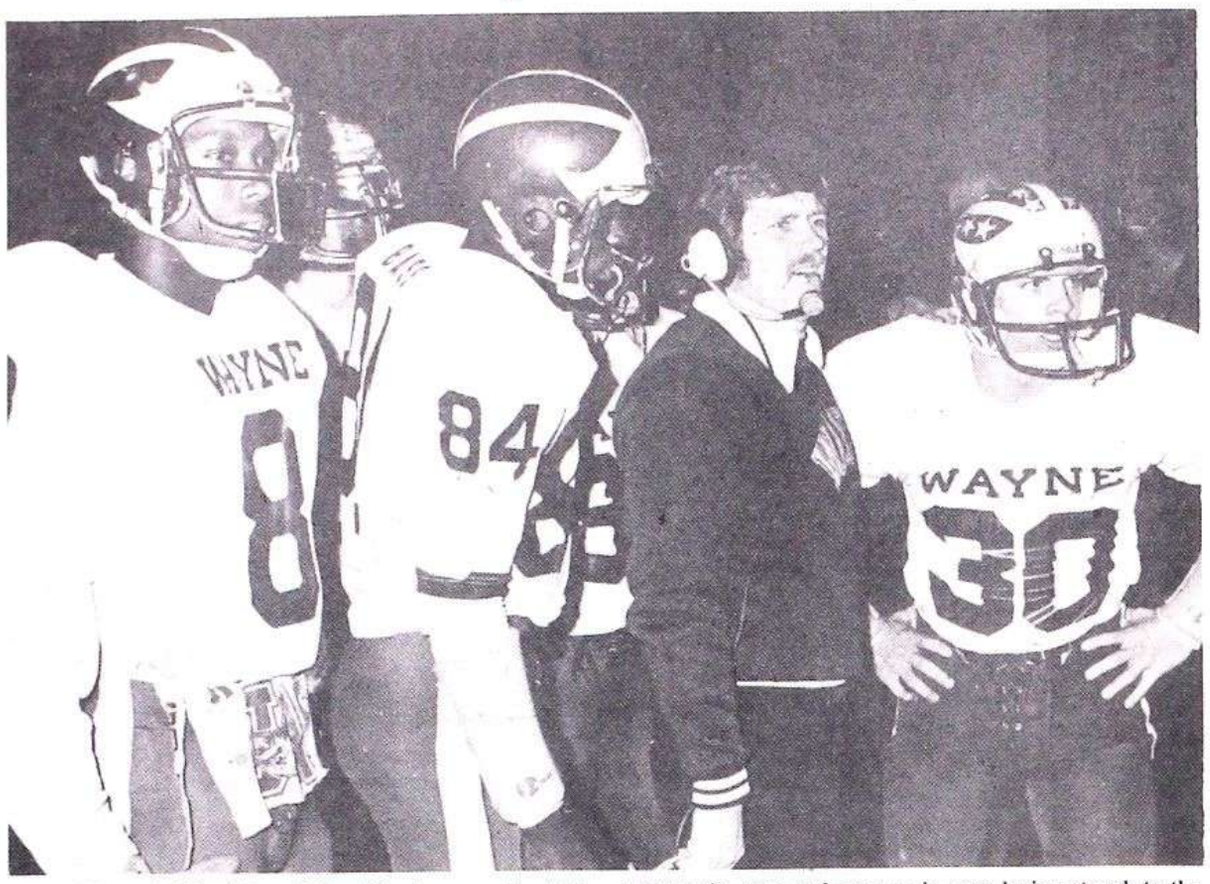
It's a great night for Wayne Memorial



Wayne Memorial Head Coach Floyd Carter scans the field Saturday night to see how his troops are doing against Westland John Glenn. Things went real fine for the Zebras as they came from behind to score 26 points in the second half to win, 32-7, and snap a six-year losing streak to the Rockets. Vincent Patterson (8), Tony Bass (84) and Rick Martin (30) stand ready to do their coach's bidding on the sidelines.

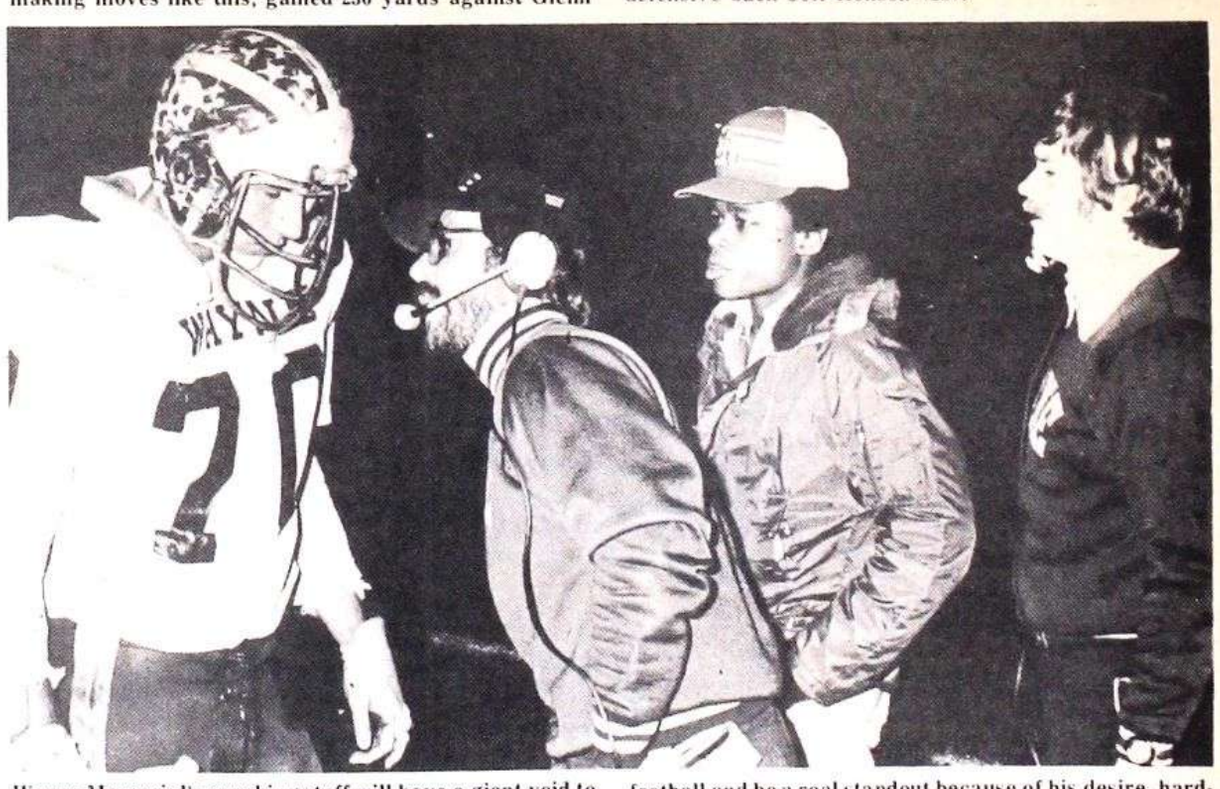
John Glenn Head Football Coach Chuck Gordon encourages his players as they do battle with Wayne Memorial Saturday night. Saturday night's 32-7 loss to the Zebras was Gordon's first defeat by Wayne since taking over as head coach of the Rockets in 1977. Assistant coach Todd Deluca, a former Rocket quarterback and outstanding place-kicker, mans the phones as the Glenn players watch the action from the sidelines behind Gordon. Wayne finished with an 8-1 season record, while Glenn just missed a winning season with a 4-5 slate.

10th ANNUAL FALL FOOTBALL CLASSICS

ANP PHOTOS BY LOTHAR KONIETZKO

Guard Roy Buchanan (62) shows the ectasy of victory as he is given a "victory hug" by assistant coach Kevin Wilson after Wayne Memorial crushed John Glenn, 32-7, Saturday night. Buchanan played a great two-way game, opening holes for the running backs as well as making 11 tackles on defense.

Opponents of Wayne Memorial hated to see "Number 5" carrying the ball against them the past three seasons — and with good reason. All-State tailback Rick Rogers (5), making moves like this, gained 236 yards against Glenn Saturday night and finished with 1,352 yards this season on 180 carries. Trying to catch the fleet-footed, powerful tailback for John Glenn are end Jeff Perryman (87) and defensive back Jeff Henson (23).



Wayne Memorial's coaching staff will have a giant void to fill when senior Bruce Rize (70) graduates next June. The offensive tackle-linebacker opened holes for Zebra runningbacks to go through and also made 219 tackles the past two seasons, a new Wayne Memorial career record. The 6-2, 200-pound star is expected to play small college football and be a real standout because of his desire, hard-hitting and dedication. Shown with Rize are assistant coach Mike Henry (second from left) and Head Coach Floyd Carter, while a Wayne junior varsity player observes the action.

Like the daring young man on the flying trapeze, Wayne Memorial receiver Gary Mazurek flies through the air to make this leaping catch of a pass from quarterback Rick Covault. Mazurek's great catch and run took the ball all the way to the Glenn one-yard-line, from where Rick Rogers powered across in Wayne's 32-7 victory over John Glenn. Rick Discher (12) made the stop on this play, in addition to playing a fine game at quarterback for the Rockets.

Having a dedicated physician on hand for high school football games is a real need with today's hard-hitting action. In this photo, Dr. Warren Schildberg leads Glenn's Paul Curnutte off the field with the aid of assistant coach Todd Deluca. Dr. Schildberg is one of the unsung heroes of local prep sports, volunteering his free time to be on hand to minister to injured football players in high school games every week all over Western Wayne County. The Garden City physician has donated his time free of charge for many, many years and coaches, administrators and players have expressed their appreciation for his concern and interest in high school athletes.

CLASSIFIED ADS ACT SO FAST YOU WOULD THINK THEY ARE BEWITCHED... TRY ONE SOON!

SELLING VS. SELLING!

The case before the court is:

Whether or not it is a crime to slash an advertising budget during an economic downturn.

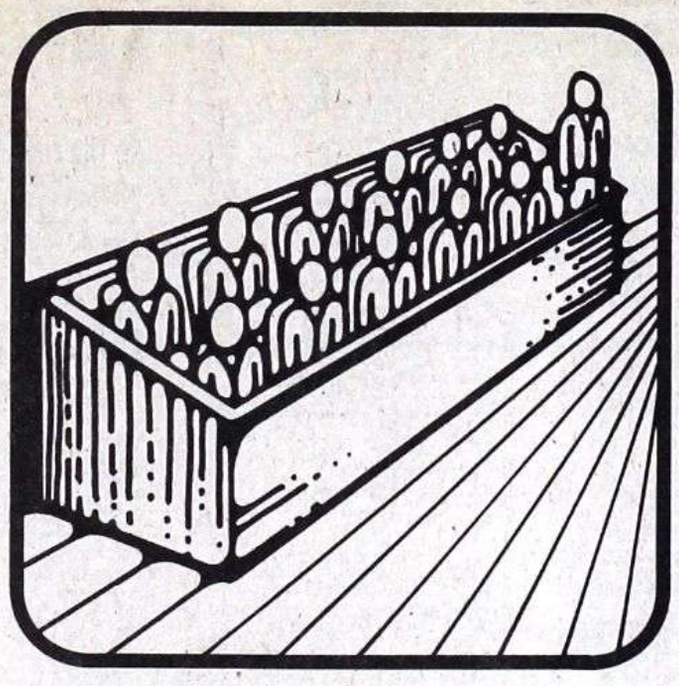
NO

Attorney for the advertiser points to the potential injury to the bottom line as a clear-cut motive to reduce ad expenditures. He reasons that budgets must always relate to sales and pleads self defense rather than temporary insanity for using the knife.

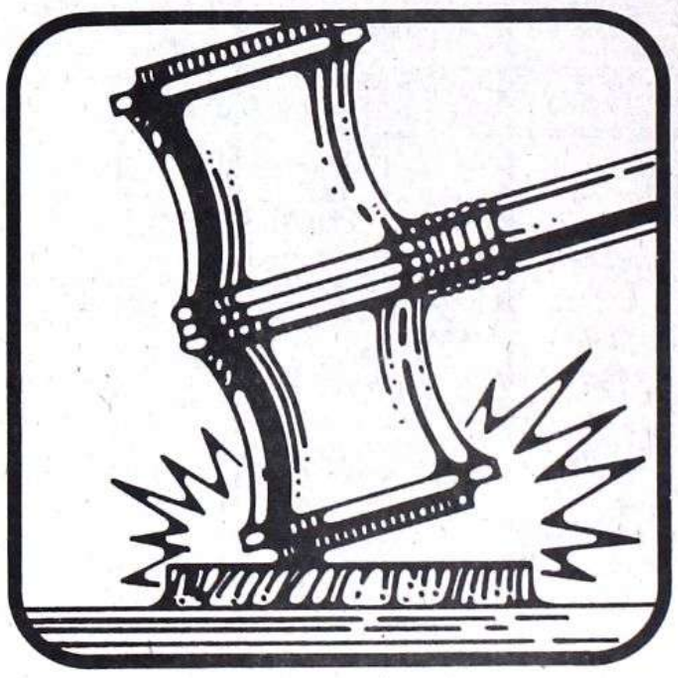
YES

Defense attorney cites previous case of ad slashing and offers as exibits A,B,C,D post mortems of retailers who lost their confidence in their ability to motivate consumers and move merchandise.

YES



In charging the jury, the judge states that they must decide whether advertising budget-makers should cut and run from recession talk or attack the problem with more selling... more advertising.



THE VERDICT IS CLEAR!

ADVERTISE!...

It doesn't cost...it pays!
